MAYOR ROBINSON WINS THIRD TERM, HOME RULE CHARTER ISSUE APPROVED

City Question Gets Margin Of 430 Votes

First Step Toward Change in Government Taken by Electorate

Marion voters took the first step toward a possible change in the form of their city government yesterday by approving the organization of a commission to frame a city charter.

The charter question widely discussed before the election, was approved by a margin of more than 430 votes. It required only a simple majority.

The unofficial vote was:

Yes	3,349
No	2,911

This count is incomplete by one precinct because of failure of Ward 2 Precinct B to record the charter issue votes, but the final tally can not change the result even if all voters in this precinct cast 'no' votes.

Inasmuch as the question carried, the 15 unopposed candidates for the charter commission were elected

Will Study Government

It will be their task in the next year to make a detailed study of city government and come up with a form of government they feel best suits the needs of Marion.

Their recommendations will then be submitted to the voters for approval or rejection at the election next November.

The commission could propose any one of a number of possible forms of municipal government possible under a city charter

However, it is expected that the type government proposed will fall under one of five general classifications of city government possible in the United States.

General Types

These types are: the present mayor-council form which is actually divided into two classifications, the so-called weak mayor-council and the strong mayor-council type; the commission form; the mayor - administrator type; and the council-manager or, more popularly, the city-manager form.

Procedure of the commission in selecting the form of municipal government it believes best suited to Marion's needs will be decided on by the commission members. In all likelihood this procedure will involve numerous commission meetings with city officials, public meetings and inquiries of the success of this or that form of government from among cities using them.

Must Mail Out Copies

All this must be accomplished by the commission members, who serve without pay, in what amounts to an 11-month period. Under Ohio law they must submit their proposed city charter to the voters at least 30 days prior to the election next November. Each registered voter in the city will be mailed a printed copy of the proposed charter a month before the election. Purpose of this procedure is to give voters ample opportunity to study the charter and ask questions or possibly call attention to errors which may exist

In the balloting yesterday, early returns seemed to indicate that the question would fail to pass. However as later and larger returns were tallied, the trend gradually changed until the "yes" votes outnumbered the "no" votes.

Candidates Elected

A slate of 15 candidates, running on a non-partisan ballot, were all unopposed for election to the 15-member commission.

Those elected from each ward and at large were.

Gain Big City Vote

Road, School Issues Assured of Passage

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A heavy favorable vote in Ohio's big cities has assured passage of two controversial amendments to the state constitution.

One amendment permits a 500-million-dollar bond issue for state highway construction and maintenance. The other permits creation of a state board of education which in turn will select a state director of education.. The director of education now is appointed by the governor.

Majority Needed

Amendments to the state constitution require a majority vote.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown reported the following totals as of 6.20 a. m. for 9,052 of Ohio's 11,091 polling places:

Highway bond issue: For 800,379, against 539,053.

State board of education: For 706,794; against 537,544.

Seven other proposed revisions of the constitution also received favorable margins. These proposals remove what Brown calls obsolete sections of the Constitution.

Final tabulation was not expected until late today or early tomorrow.

Heaviest support for the two major amendment proposals came from Ohio's industrial northern area and the Cincinnati area. Voting in Cuyahoga and Hamilton counties ran about 2 to 1 for the highway bond issue and gave heavy margins favoring the school board amendment. Other counties giving strong favorable margins to both issues included Franklin, Lake, Lucas, Geauga, Erie, Summit, Mahoning and Montgomery.

Rural Vote Negative

Early returns from rural counties Tuesday night indicated a trend against passage of the two amendments. The 43 polling places of Meigs County in Southern Ohio returned a vote of 2 to 1 against the highway bond issue. In central Ohio's Union County it was 3 to 1 against the highway bond proposal and 2 to 1 against the school board issue. Other counties opposing both measures in early returns were Athens, Clinton, Fulton, Mercer, Noble, Pickaway, Shelby and Wyandot.

But as the tabulations started coming in from the urban areas, the trend shifted. Late returns gave an increasingly large margin in favor of the two proposals.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche has strongly opposed both amendments.

Ohio educators backed the school board proposal. They were supported by some large civic groups. Trucking, commercial and other business interests campaigned widely in support of the highway bond issue.

Passage of the school board amendment opens the way for action by the Legislature to determine how a board of education will be selected and how the board will choose the director.

Ten-Year Program

Approval of the highways bond issue amendment will enable the state to sell bonds for a 10-year improvement program. The bonds may be paid off with funds from the gas taxes, highway use taxes and license fees.

The seven proposals amending what the secretary of state termed "dead wood" received more than a little opposition.

Considerable opposition went to

4 Amendments Carry

Only four of the nine proposed amendments to the Constitution of Ohio carried in Marion County.

Those approved were Amendment 5, U S Constitution Conflicts; Amendment 6, Eligibility of Women to Offices, Amendment 8, Officials in Office; and Amendment 9, World War I Bonus.

The vote in the two major issues, the highway bond issue and the state board of education, was as follows:

Bond Issue for Highways
For	4,679
Against	5,059
State Board of Education
For	4,551
Against	4,872

Big Plurality for Mayor

Wagner Is N.Y. Winner In Democratic Landslide

NEW YORK (AP)—Robert F Wagner Jr. was elected mayor of New York yesterday in a Democratic landslide that sent ecstacy through the New Deal-Fair Deal wing of the party.

His victory had been widely forecast. But the size of it and the New Deal-Fair Deal stamp he bore set his backers to dreaming of capturing the state next year and nominating their type of presidential candidate in the 1956 Democratic convention.

Large Plurality

Wagner won a four-year term by a plurality of 360,078 and nipped the political careers of his two major opponents, Republican Harold Riegelman and Liberal party candidate Rudolph Halley.

Son of the late U.S. Sen Robert F. Wagner of New York, the mayor-elect carried four of the city's five boroughs with ease. In Queens, where GOP strength is greatest, he fought Riegelman to a virtual standoff.

Final returns from the city's 4,217 election districts gave Wagner 1,021,488 votes to 661,410 for Riegelman and 468,392 for Halley. A fourth candidate, Clifford T. McAvoy of the dying left-wing American Labor party, polled only 54,372 votes.

2,205,662 Total

Among those elected on Wagner's ticket was Hulan E Jack, who succeeds him as Manhattan borough president and becomes the first Negro ever to hold so high an office in New York's history. Jack's regular opponents also were Negroes.

A total of 2,205,662 persons out of 2,396,099 registered went to the polls.

Wagner drew 46.3 per cent of the mayor's vote. Riegelman 30.0, Halley 21.2 and McAvoy 2.5.

City, County Tax Requests Badly Beaten

Sewage Plant Levy Comes Nearest With 43 Per Cent 'For' Vote

Marion city and county voters overwhelmingly defeated three half-mill levies, and city voters likewise turned down a three-quarter mill levy in Tuesday's election.

A half-mill levy for the construction of a hospital unit for the Marion County Home received only 37 per cent approval. A vote of 60 per cent was needed for its passage.

The unofficial vote was:

For	4,005
Against	6,812

This levy received majority approval in Marion Township South where the vote was 179 for, and 138 against it, for a percentage of 56. It also received a majority vote in Precincts 6-B (164-125) and 6-D (114-110).

Gets Widest Margin

Of the three county levies, this levy received the widest margin of approval.

This levy, if it had met with the voters' approval, would have raised $150,000 over a period of three years for the construction of the hospital unit as well as for improvements on other county buildings.

County commissioners, in asking for this levy, contended they needed the money in order to take care of taxpayers' property. Their main concern was for the residents of the County Home who need the hospital unit for sick and bedfast residents.

At the present time these people are housed in an inadequate hospital ward on the second floor of the building and it would be "next to impossible" to save them in case of a fire, commissioners say.

Other Uses

Funds from this levy would also have been used for improvements on the Marion County jail and for helping alleviate crowded conditions at the Courthouse by the remodeling of the top floor into two floors.

Getting the least approval from voters was a half-mill levy for the construction, acquisition, and installation of an elevator in the Marion County Courthouse. Only 20 per cent voted for this levy.

Russian Note Evasive, U.S. Diplomats Say

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Department officials today described Russia's latest note on a German conference as fresh evidence that Moscow desires a kind of diplomatic stalemate at least for the time being.

There was no immediate comment by the department of the Russian response to a Western bid for a foreign ministers' conference on Germany and Austria. But privately, officials used such words as "evasive . . . a severe disappointment" in speaking of it.

The 18-page note, delivered yesterday, was a reply to the invitation which the United States Britain and France issued Oct. 18 to the Russians to attend a conference on Germany and Austria at Lugano, Switzerland, on Nov. 9.

The gist of the note clearly appeared to be contained in a reassertion of these two points which the Soviets had insisted upon in a message to the Western governments in September:

1 A five-power foreign ministers' conference, including Red China, which would seek to ease tensions all over the world—apparently a free ranging negotiation putting many problems on one table.

2. As a kind of second half of the big meeting, a conference of the foreign ministers of Russia and the three big Western powers, without Red China to discuss the German question. The Russians contend that work on an Austrian peace treaty should go through normal diplomatic channels.

Kidnap Slayers Plead Guilty, Trial Set Nov. 16

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Federal Judge Albert L. Reeves says the question of prejudice will not enter into the selection of a jury for the trial of the Greenlease kidnapers "since there is no question of determing guilt or innocence."

Carl Austin Hall, 34, and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, 41, yesterday pleaded guilty at their arraignment to federal charges of kidnaping Bobby Greenlease and their trial was set for Nov. 16.

Columbus City Administration Is Overturned

Democrat Takes Over After 18 Years; Other Upsets Scored in Ohio

By The Associated Press

Democrats scored some startling upsets in local Ohio elections Tuesday.

One of the most surprising was the upset in Columbus of a Republican administration entrenched since 1935. Democrat Maynard Sensenbrenner, who never before ran for public office, defeated Republican incumbent Robert T. Oestreicher by a narrow 284-vote margin. Sensenbrenner has an all-Republican City Council serving with him. There was some talk of a vote recount.

Another upset took place in Zanesville where voters elected their first Democrat as mayor in 30 years.

There 43-year-old Sherman Johnson, a grocer and a Democrat, won the mayoralty race over Republican Fred J. Nethers, who is treasurer of the Ohio Republican Party and a state central committeeman from the 15th Congressional District. Johnson polled 6,889 votes to 4,790 for Nethers. A third man on the ticket, John Williams,

GOP Captures All City Posts, 7 Council Seats

Marion's Republican Mayor Harold F. Robinson swept to his third consecutive victory in yesterday's election by piling up a comfortable 1,676 vote margin over his Democratic opponent, George W. Moore.

All other city administration posts along with 7 of 10 City Council seats, also were captured by Republicans. Democratic Councilman-at-Large William H. Simmons was unseated in the sweep as the Republicans picked up one council seat.

The complete, unofficial mayoralty vote was:

Robinson	4,570
Moore	2,894

In the only other contested race for city offices, incumbent City Treasurer Harry D. Cahill, running on the Republican ticket, topped his Democratic opponent, Mrs. Barbara B. Norris, by 453 votes.

The vote was:

Cahill	3,930
Norris	3,477

In the only other city administration office voted upon, incumbent City Solicitor George A. Piacentino polled 5,509 votes. Running on the Republican ticket, he was unopposed for the office.

A veteran of local politics Mayor Robinson has served in this capacity for the last four years following eight years as a city councilman. He also served two years on the Marion County Republican Executive Committee and has been a member of the County Republican Central Committee for 15 years.

Electrical Contractor

An electrical contractor by profession, he was born in Columbus on Jan. 12, 1904. He first came to Marion some 40 years ago and has made this his home since that time. A father of two married sons, two daughters at home, and another son serving in the Air Force, he and Mrs. Robinson reside at 241 N. Greenwood St.

Cahill has served as city treasurer since he was first elected in 1941 following six terms as a councilman-at-large. He is employed as stores record clerk at the Ohio Edison Co.

A native of Union County, he attended public schools in Wood County before moving to Marion some 43 years ago. Born June 10, 1890, he is married to the former Miss Pearl Clapsaddle of Marion, and has one daughter at home at 128 W. Fairground St. as well as one married daughter and four grandchildren.

Solicitor Since 1951

Piacentino, an attorney, has served as city solicitor since his first election in 1951. He served as assistant city solicitor from 1948 to 1951.

A native of Marion, he is a graduate of Boston University and of the Ohio State University School of Law. He resides at 226 Summit St. with Mrs. Piacentino and their three pre-school age children. He is 31 years old.

In the race for City Council seats, three newcomers, all Republicans, were elected to increase the Republican majority from 6-4 to 7-3. One Democratic incumbent running for reelection was defeat-

Cox, Kraner Elected to City School Board

Dr. Mills Runs Third, Snouffer Fourth in Close Race for Posts

Rodney S Cox was elected for a second term and Robert S. Kraner was elected to a first term on the Marion City board of education when voters marked their non-partisan ballots in Tuesday's election. Two of four candidates for four-year terms on the board, the winners defeated Harry S. Snouffer and Dr. Richard W. Mills Jr., who ran a close third.

The unofficial results were:

Cox	3,649
Kraner	4,060
Mills	3,518
Snouffer	2,309

Company Manager

Cox, now serving as president of the board, is manager of the Marion Manufacturing Co. Prior to joining the staff of the local manufacturing concern he was with the Babcock & Wilson Co. of New York. He is a native of Norwood and came to Marion when he was 10 years old.

Mr. and Mrs. Cox and their 10-year-old daughter live at 408 S. Prospect St. Mrs. Cox is the former Miss Jane Raub of Marion.

Kraner, his wife, who is the former Miss Grace Wise, and their two children live at 676 S. Prospect St.

Kraner will succeed Frank C Robinson, 538 S. Prospect St. who will retire Jan 1, 1954, after serving 16 years on the board. He served as president of the board in 1950. While serving as a member of the board Robinson's three children were graduated from Harding High School and he was accorded the honor of presenting them with their diplomas. He is freight agent with the New York Central Railroad here.

Dr Mills is on the staff of the Smith Clinic and Snouffer is assistant trainmaster with the C & O Railroad.

Election Officials Come Close in Vote Estimates

Board of Elections officials came pretty close to estimating the number of votes cast in the election Tuesday.

A total of 11,717 voted. They predicted 11,200 would vote.

Of an estimated 24,000 qualified voters in the city and county of Marion, 7,823 city voters and 3,894 rural voters went to the polls.

—:—

ELMER WILLIAMS, candidate for Grand Prairie Township trustee, has reasons to be a bit wary about the number "62" today.

In Tuesday's election he tied for second place with Millard Moreland. Each garnered 62 votes.

Two year's ago Williams also was in the race for township trustee. That's right — both he and an opponent, Floyd Cluff, accumulated 62 votes.

A flip of a coin, after a re-count verified the tie vote, gave the post to Cluff at that time.

This year, Ernest Miller's 68, votes assure him one of the trustee posts, but Williams again will have to depend on the flip of a coin for a chance at the second post unless the official count changes the results.

TIME OF REPORTING voting results to the Board of Elections by precincts varied from the earliest one coming in at 9:10 p.m. to the last one which reported at 1.50 a. m. this morning.

Scott Township was first and Precinct 4-E was last at 1:50 a.m. First city precinct to bring in the results was 2-D at 10:10 p.m.

—:—

THROUGH A MIX-UP, Precinct 2-B failed to report its count on the city charter issue and the count was to be made today.

Even if all of the 764 persons voting in that precinct voted "no" on the city charter issue, board

Blood Clearing Factor Used

Remedy Found for Coronary Attacks

By THOMAS B. HENRY
Science Editor North American Newspaper Alliance

WASHINGTON — Failure of a highly complex body chemical system probably is the major cause of hardening of the arteries, one of the chief causes of death among persons of middle age, whose frequency appears to be on the increase.

By duplication of this process in the laboratory, scientists of the National Heart Institute here have produced a substance called a "blood-clearing factor," which breaks up large, fatlike molecules in the blood stream. The depositing of these molecules on artery walls is now believed to cause the dreaded arteriosclerosis.

WHILE STILL PROBABLY far from the stage of clinical use, test-tube trials of the new clearing factor is quite promising, according to the [illegible] workers. In most persons the material is produced in sufficient quantities in the blood plasma, but the process is so complicated that it easily can break down, especially in older persons.

The most vital element in the process is the anticoagulant heparin, normally produced in the liver. This heparin however, must combine with the two factors found in the blood plasma and one produced in the stomach or lungs in order to break up the giant fat molecules. Failure in normal production of any of the four factors may well result in the hardening of the arteries syndrome.

The three factors in addition to heparin have been obtained by use of the centrifuge and some progress made toward their proper combination. Tests with a few experimental patients have been quite promising, but as yet inconclusive.

IN NORMAL PERSONS THE blood takes on a slightly milky appearance after a meal containing a good deal of fat. This milkiness disappears in a few hours in most individuals. But in a few it persists. Such persistence probably denotes the beginning of the arteriosclerosis process. In experimental animals the milkiness can be made to disappear quite rapidly with administration of a little heparin. Its persistence in men may reveal the progress of an arteriosclerotic condition before there are any overt symptoms.

More than 95 per cent of all coronary heart attacks are due to the hardening of the arteries. National Institute doctors say. For many years this disease was thought to be a natural, irreversible process, part of the inevitable degeneration of old age. This is no longer considered true. Some die of coronary attacks in their early 20's. The arteries of others remain unaffected in old age. Discovery of the blood chemical system by the National Institute doctors furnishes the first real insight into the true nature of the disease.

The fact that it was accomplished by the appearance of giant fat molecules in the blood was recognized several years ago and the e were supposed to be specific for its victims. It now appears however, that these are formed in everybody's blood, but with nature providing a way for breaking them down almost immediately.

RESEARCH INTO THE ABILITY of the body to handle the fat from which the 'clearing factor' discovery has come was conducted by Dr. Christian B. Anfinson of the National Institute staff associated with Drs. Ray K. Brown, Edwin Boyle and Joseph H. Bragdon. Their present plans are to activate in the laboratory very large batches of the newfound clearing factor so that it can be used for extensive tests with experimental animals. It is of particular importance at present, they say, to determine what makes the chemical system go haywire in the human body.

Wyandot County Issues Pass With Wide Margins

UPPER SANDUSKY — Special issues in Wyandot County enjoyed a field day Tuesday as all except the proposed constitutional amendments were passed. Unofficial results show 16 different issues were approved by voters.

Only questions which were close were two in Carey dealing with the park. They were the park maintenance levy and the park improvement levies.

Those two managed to garner enough votes to pass, but in both cases, the vote was close and could be changed by the official tabulations.

There was only one race in the county. That was in Sycamore where nine men battled for six city council seats. The six elected were Franklin G. Aller, George Junior Fadley, Frank Mackling, Roy S. Moyer, Marion A. Ward, and James R. Hufford.

Council seats in Marseilles were decided by write-ins with the exception of Wilbur Hensel who filed his name with the board of election. He received 37 votes. Others elected were Paul Hughes, Lester Schertzer, Daryl Dean Donald Hensel, and Cloyce Needles.

Complete unofficial vote totals follow.

2 Top Officials Deny A Bomb Bases in Spain

U.S. Has No Plans To Store Bombs, Say Both Dulles, Wilson

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two top administration officials have denied the United States plans to store atomic weapons in Spain, and Secretary of the Air Force Harold Talbott contends he didn't say it did.

The denials came yesterday in quick succession, and in the wake of widely published stories quoting Talbott as saying in Madrid on Monday there were such plans.

President Eisenhower had an opportunity to give his views at a news conference this afternoon.

Offcial Stand

Until Talbott comes home about mid-month and gives his official version, the government apparently intends to ride along on the basis of:

1. The pronouncement of Secretary of State Dulles, concurred in by Secretary of Defense Wilson, that "we have no plans for storing atomic weapons in Spain" and that if and when such plans materialize "we shall not announce them publicly to the world and to our potential enemy." Wilson is Talbott's immediate superior.

2. Talbott's insistence on arriving yesterday in Athens, Greece, that he had said nothing about storing bombs in Spain "nor will I ever make statements about atomic weapons." He had been quoted by various correspondents for American and British newspapers and news services as saying there were such plans, subject to approval by Spain.

Returns Awaited

Up to last night, no official word from Talbott to the Pentagon had arrived, and a spokesman said the matter apparently would be held in abeyance until the secretary's return.

In the Pentagon they have word for it: "Flaps." A flap in military lingo is something that tangles up policy.

This was the third major flap involving the Pentagon in recent weeks.

The first came when Secretary Wilson commented at a news conference that he didn't think the Russians had enough planes or atomic bombs to wage a sustained war.

It was unhappy timing. Eisenhower had warned in an address only a little before the ominous menace from Soviet atomic development. The President shortly ordered his subordinates to clear statements on atomic matters with the Atomic Energy Commission.

Second 'Flap'

Flap No. 2 came when Wilson at a later news conference talked about troop strength in Europe and new weapons. Some subsequent stories connected the two, saying that with more new weapons in Europe the United States could cut troop strength there. Some Europeans expressed alarm. The President took the first opportunity to insist there are no plans for reducing American combat strength anywhere.

Flap No. 3 found Dulles and Wilson in accord. Wilson told newsmen, who asked about the remarks attributed to Talbott, that "I think Secretary Dulles covered that pretty well" in the latter's denial.

Wilson replied cautiously when asked if he could say flatly whether the United States had any atom bombs outside this country. Wilson said he couldn't say that flatly and "I wouldn't say it if I could."

That, of course, left the question open, except for the denial that there now are plans for storing the bombs in Spain at some future time when U. S. bases there are ready for bombers.

SKUNK PATROL

Troast Beaten For Governor In New Jersey

Democrat Meyner Is Easy Victor; GOP Sees Trouble for Ike

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—A Democrat won New Jersey's governorship yesterday with surprising ease and Republicans viewed the victory as political trouble for President Eisenhower.

Country lawyer Robert B. Meyner defeated Republican Paul L. Troast by more than 160,000 votes, just a year after Eisenhower swept the normally GOP state with a 350,000 plurality. He will be the first Democratic governor in New Jersey in 10 years.

Meyner's triumph was in keeping with Democratic victories in Virginia, the only other state with a gubernatorial election, and in New York City's mayoral race. The New Jersey election was considered the only statewide test of Eisenhower's administration this year.

Coupled with Meyner's defeat of Troast, a contractor and head of the N. J. Turnpike Authority, was the victory of Democrat Harrison A. Williams Jr. in the state's 6th Congressional District.

Williams won over George F. Hetfield by a scant 2,000 votes in the normally heavy Republican district. The Union County district has had a GOP congressman since it was organized in 1932.

The Williams election pared GOP control of the House to 218 Republicans over 215 Democrats. It put New Jersey's delegation at eight Republicans and six Democrats.

Meyner's victory was noted among other Democratic triumphs in statements by both the Republican and Democratic national chairmen.

Said GOP Chairman Leonard W. Hall:

"There's no question about it—as of today we are in trouble politically."

Democratic Chairman Stephen Mitchell said Meyner's victory shows "clearly the trend back to the Democratic party which was evident last month in Wisconsin" where a Democrat upset a Republican for Congress.

Meyner's future as governor could be a rough one. Despite his personal popularity, Republicans remained loyal to their representatives in the Legislature.

In normally strong Republican counties of Bergen and Essex, GOP candidates for the Senate and Assembly were elected comfortably while Troast lost Essex and barely won Bergen.

Meyner's victory came at the end of a six-month campaign in which he rose from virtual political obscurity. He led a wing of Democrats opposed to a return to power of backers of former party boss Frank Hague.

During the campaign Troast called Meyner the hand-picked candidate of Mayor John V. Kenny of Jersey City who ousted Hague in 1949. Meyner replied he was unbossed and charged in return that Troast represented a party that had permitted the underworld to flourish in New Jersey.

Both sides brought national figures into the state to speak. Many politicians viewed it as a battleground for the Eisenhower administration though the campaign principally was fought on the issue of crime and corruption.

A turning point in the campaign came with the revelation that Troast as head of his construction firm wrote a letter in 1951 to New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey asking executive clemency for convicted labor extortionist Joey Fay.

Galion Juniors End Season Undefeated

GALION — Coach Pete Fanning and his Junior High football team tasted victory for the sixth time when they completed an undefeated season Tuesday afternoon. The victory was over Bucyrus 13-0.

It was the second time the two teams met this fall, Galion having whipped the young Redmen 33-7 the first time they played. Coach Fanning said the Bucyrus aggregation was a much improved team over the first meeting. This is Fanning's first year with the 7th and 8th graders and the second year that his team has been organized in Galion.

Galion's scoring was made entirely in the second quarter. Dick Patton scored the first touchdown on an end run of 20 yards. The second touchdown was made when Larry Eckert passed to Dick Johnston for 25 yards. The extra point was added on a run by Patton.

Township Trustee Vote Features Close Contests

Close contests marked the balloting for the positions of township trustees in Marion County Tuesday. Only in Montgomery, Salt Rock, and Scott Townships were there no races. Two trustees were elected in each township.

In Prospect Township, the one registered candidate, B. J. McNeal, won as did a write-in candidate, Ray Annette. The race in Grand Prairie ended in a draw, for one of the positions. Ernest T. Miller won one of the seats with 68 votes, but Millard K. Moreland and Elmer A. Williams tied for the other post, both with 62 ballots.

In Marion Township, Paul W. Augenstein and Robert G. Burton both rolled up more than 3,000 votes to defeat Orla E. Barks, Kenneth B. Connolly and Cloyd N. Sautter.

Royal Fields and Earl W. Seckel piled up more than 200 votes to defeat Paul Anthony, E. S. Cooper, and Walter Fiant in Claridon.

In Grand Township, Dwight Clinger polled 55 and Everett D. Rubins got 50 votes to win positions. Ralph Roszman was just behind Rubins with an unofficial total of 49 votes.

In most of the townships, the vote was close, often with but half a dozen ballots separating the winning and losing candidates.

A Stony Road Home

One of these days the American team of persuaders will talk with the 22 Yank prisoners who have expressed a preference to stay with the Reds. It is a task that requires extreme delicacy.

Our boys remaining behind are mentally sick and badly frightened. They're in the middle of a bad situation and don't know which way to turn, all exits seem blocked and their thinking is clouded.

The suffering and torture a prisoner goes through is enough without the additional worries and troubles these boys have had.

Their minds have been worked on by a number of forces until the fog is so thick they can't think for themselves.

Battle fatigue and the strain of being under fire has had an influence on many a soldier and perhaps these boys suffered that. Then as posts were overrun and capture or death inevitable, the terrible mental strain of wondering just "how long" and "what next" began to work on them.

What terrible events happened to them as prisoners one can't even imagine. But knowing the Chinese Reds are barbarians there undoubtedly was torture and enforced signing of confessions.

Then came the lectures on communism. The human body can stand just so much and finally in a spin they declined to return home.

Life may have eased up for them then but when the fighting ended and they were put on the list to be interviewed the pressure started again. But the latest pressure they've endured has been worse.

Already mixed up, they now are under guard of their own buddies, three traitors who rank right along with the other Red leaders as war criminals. Fear again has taken hold of them and again they're just hanging on—longing to return to the home they vaguely remember but not knowing whether it still exists or what awaits them on the American side of the line.

Our interviewers will need to be men who can combine the qualities of mother, minister and doctor and will work easily on these poor souls, not frightening them or showing undue force.

If the reports that have sifted back to our forces are true, that all but 3 of the 22 would come home if they had a chance or knew the true facts, then get ready the welcome mats. They'll make it

Those who remain behind will soon lose their high positions with the Reds and will learn the hard way about communism and life in a totalitarian country.

The Dean Is Gone

The death of Judge Edward Shiloh Matthias, 80-year-old dean of the Ohio Supreme Court, is a loss that will be felt across the nation as well as in our state.

The judge was a great man, respected and reversed by many. He served as a stabilizer for his associates and often was known to interrupt proceedings a moment to ease tensions and allow ruffled young attorneys to regain their composure so they could exert their best efforts.

He was completing his 39th year on the tribunal and during his career had heard more than 30,000 cases as a Common Pleas and Supreme Court judge. In the latter role he handed down more than 1,000 decisions—one of which upset a tradition and was acclaimed nationally.

This was a claim on behalf of an unborn child that was injured when the mother was thrown from a bus. The esteemed Oliver Wendell Holmes of Massachusetts had ruled negatively on this question at one time but Judge Matthias wrote an opinion that allowed the claim and thus set a precedent and received attention nationally.

His legal philosophy was summed up in a statement carried on the wall of his office: "If judges should make their decisions just, they should behold neither plaintiff, defendant, nor pleader but only the cause itself."

The wide range of sincere expressions of sorrow show the effect he had and the extent that he will be missed

His term expires Dec. 31, 1956. Gov. Lausche will have the task of appointing a successor to serve until November, 1954, when the voters will select a judge to complete the term.

It's Here at Last

Ever since autumn officially took over late in September, folks have been looking hard for Indian summer — that delightful time of the year when the weather is supposed to suit everyone.

Look about you, it's here. We've had frost and chilly weather, the leaves have turned and are mostly fallen and now it's rather warm again — ah yes, that good old Indian summer.

After this brief spell of wonderful weather we can expect the worst. It's getting near the time when snow and cold can drop in on us without any warning and once it arrives we might as well button up and enjoy it — it's a long time until the next Indian summer.

Spring will brighten up many faces, but not all. That right is reserved for Indian summer, may its 1953 stay be long and pleasant!

Time for Statesmanship

Unions Can Help Keep Economy on Even Keel

The gradualness of America's transition from a Korean wartime economy to a peacetime basis is pointed up by the latest Department of Commerce figures, which show that personal income dropped slightly from a rate of $287,500,000,000 last July to a rate of $285,800,000,000 in September.

This is a decline of about $1,700,000,000 for the nation as a whole and in all probability is due to the elimination of much of the overtime in industry.

The overtime bonus, which has at times been necessary when productive facilities were being strained to get wartime speed in manufacturing, has become quite a big item.

SOME IDEA of what it means can be derived from the experience of some toolmakers in the Chicago area, earning $2.50 an hour on straight-time pay, this would bring $100 for a 40-hour week.

When the day shift is stretched from 8 to 12 hours, the pay for each of the additional hours is $3.75, since overtime is figured on a basis of straight time plus fifty per cent extra.

The $3.75 rate applies on Saturdays, where the toolmaker might be working 12 hours. Thus, if he works on Sunday, too, for 12 hours, it is possible for him to total $80 a week.

Such incidents are rare, but they illustrate the way overtime and double time on Saturdays and Sundays help to swell the manufacturing payrolls. Payments of $200 a week for toolmakers have been frequent.

WHEN THE 40-hour week was first introduced, it was supposed to be a spread-the-work measure in times when the labor force was not fully employed.

The time-and-a-half idea was a means of penalizing overtime and keeping it down. But with a labor force of 62,000,000 or more fully employed, the time-and-a-half premium became a necessity when the Korean program called for increased production in a hurry.

The labor unions, after the close of World War II, insisted that hourly rates be increased to take care of losses in pay due to elimination of overtime and the cry was "48 hours pay for 40 hours work."

It is significant that this year, even as overtime pay has been reduced, the Department of Commerce reports that hourly rates of pay have been rising notwithstanding the fact that fewer hours are being worked.

THE BIG QUESTION for the future of the American economy is whether labor costs will continue to rise. If so, there is little hope of a drop in prices to the consumer, which used to be the way that demand was stimulated when sales fell off.

If labor costs keep rising, the price spiral will in due time cause a squeeze for the industrial world not unlike that which is worrying the farmer. Thus, while the outcry from the agricultural areas is that farm income is dropping, there would be less and less concern about it if the things the farmer has to buy were also dropping in price.

While the political opponents of the administration are urging that subsidies be increased to maintain high farm prices, little is heard about the inflexibility of labor costs which may continue to rise until sales drop off still more and unemployment ensues.

This, therefore, is a time for labor-union statesmanship — a time to recognize that the removal of overtime in and of itself need not injure the economy. If it is accompanied by a demand for higher hourly rates to offset overtime losses, a serious situation will be developed.

-:-

THE DIMINUTION of personal income thus far noted isn't, relatively speaking, serious. After all, the September rate of $285,800,000,000 a year is above the rate for the first nine months of 1953, which was $284,300,000,000.

This was 6.5 per cent higher than for the first nine months of 1952.

The readjustment now under way—in fact, it has been going on ever since the Korean war — shows every evidence of being absorbed without any indication of deep recesion or depression. It is the kind of transition which forecasts an even healthier economy when production is again on a normal basis.

Incidentally, the increase in leisure hours brought about through the reduction of excessive overtime tends in the long run to increase consumer spending and to improve the health of the workers.

Iron Curtain Night Life

By MARK DANA

An Associated Press dispatch from Vienna (of which unhappy city a one-fourth segment is under Russian domination) gives the hardly surprising information that an "evening out" for a courting or married couple behind the Iron Curtain is a rather dreary affair, and highly expensive as well.

In the Russian sector of Vienna, as well as in the Balkan capitals like Budapest, Bucharest, Prague and Sofia, night-clubbing is discouraged for the common people, although the Russian straw bosses themselves put on quite a show themselves at nocturnal resorts.

Elegance is discouraged for the commoners along with actual attendance, and native men and women have learned the most peaceful way to attend shows and once-glittering cafes (if they go at all) is to wear dowdy clothing, with no neckties or ornate wraps. Even so, a dinner for two costs a fortnight's pay for a man, and apparently only the most devoted swains and husbands patronize the entertainment spots.

There is nothing new in this reminder, of course. Russia has oppressed, restricted and placed almost in bondage the people of the Balkan and Baltic states, Poland, East Germany and even the proletariat of Russia herself, in the name of communism.

A chief concept of the Communistic "religion" is that life must be all toil and blind fealty to the state, with no pleasure as such. Yet some American and other free people who perceive traces of idealism in communism per se continue amazingly trying to make our country still another enchained puppet of Russia, confusing (as do many of our orators) ideological beliefs with the political imperialism of Russia as a nation.

That is why we find it necessary to condemn everything even tinted with communism as an ideology because this ideology is the hand-maiden of a nation's aggression, a nation to which routine pleasure and relaxation and comfort are anathema.

Daily Bible Thought

It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord, and to sing praises unto thy name, O most High.—Ps. 92:2 The first Thanksgiving in America was celebrated when the pilgrims were pathetically poor. They were glad for the humblest subsistence and preservation. Thanksgiving in these fabulously prosperous days is marked by football games and feasting, but how about thankfulness? God likes appreciation.

Who eat their corn while yet 'tis green, At the true harvest can but glean.—Sadi

Success Foreseen for Chiang Invasion

By Gen. Claire Chennault

AS TOLD TO EARL H. BOSS

TAIPEH, Formosa

It has taken too long, but most people in the United States apparently realize now that Red China will never be friendly to the West. She needs Russian help or she can't live and she can never be friends with both the Soviet and America.

As long as the Communists rule China there will be unrest or actual fighting in Asia. Real peace is impossible with the Reds in Peking.

That brings up the question of who throws them out? Certainly American troops can't.

Native forces in Asia are eager to have a try at it. Free China, which never will accept the Communist victory on the mainland as final, is training a large army now to wrest control of the vast country from the Reds.

There is enough Asian manpower on Formosa and in Korea to do the job. These forces have a limitation — that of equipment and transportation. If these are supplied by the United States, and if the limited war is resumed in Korea, I think that Chiang Kai-shek could pull off a successful invasion on the mainland.

Mao Tse-tung dreads a two-front war much more than Hitler ever did. The key reason is transportation. The China mainland just doesn't have it.

THE REDS were using 1,000,000 troops in Korea. That may be the limit they can arm and deploy there. Outside of almost negligible home production, Communist equipment comes from Soviet Russia via Siberia and Manchuria over one key rail line. South of Tientsin there are only two railroads. The Red capacity for supplying troops to the faraway south is definitely limited.

What I would like to see in Korea is an "active defensive." This would be not a push to the Yalu but just enough activity to keep the Reds transporting and expending arms and ammunition at a good rate. With the Communists so occupied, Chiang could hit the mainland.

The Communists don't have the capacity to fight in South China with more than 250,000 men in an active campaign.

They could not consistently equip and transport reserves for a larger force over the 1,500 miles from Manchuria. If war comes the Reds would have to be denied access to sea transportation, of course.

With the United States Navy—or with Chinese - manned American ships — such a blockade would be relatively easy.

SUCH A TWO-FRONT assault is the only way I see for obtaining a victory over Red China.

The bulging South China coast opposite Formosa is the "soft underbelly of China" because of the supply problem. The first place for Chiang Kai-shek to hit would be Fukien Province. There are no railroads or navigable rivers into this province, which is completely ringed by mountains. If Chiang were able to knock the Reds out of Fukien once, they would have an almost impossible task of getting back in.

Chiang, on the other hand, could break out if the United States could furnish him the trucks and transport planes to keep his supplies rolling. The Chinese Nationalist objective, once the breakout of Fukien is accomplished, would be the north-south railroad to the northwest. This is the vital railway that links Hankow to Canton. Once astride that railroad, Chiang would be able to cut off all supplies heading south toward Canton and Hainan.

Then it would be time to turn south with part of Chiang's forces to take Canton.

THIS WOULD give Chiang a port to his rear, from which he could be supplied by water in great quantity. The next objective would be to take all of South China below the Yangtze River.

Keeping in mind my estimate that the Reds can supply no more than 250,000 effectives in such a South China campaign against the Nationalists, I would estimate that Chiang needs only about 400,000 troops to hit the mainland. In addition, of course, he would need adequate troops to defend the Formosan island bastion to the rear.

Once the generalissimo establishes himself on the mainland, the people will flock to him. He will get more armed forces volunteers than he can arm. How can I be sure? My airline, Civil Air Transport, has more than 1,400 Chinese employes, most of them from the mainland originally. Their families are still there. These employes get almost daily reports from home, and these reports show that nobody is satisfied with the Communists. The Reds are oppressing the people and taking their food. Everyone is asking, "When is Chiang coming back?"

The people have had a chance to see the Reds in action. They don't like what they see. Most of them are actively hostile to the Communists.

THERE ARE those who still worry that if Chiang were to hit the mainland under American auspices, Russia would decide to come in and World War III would be on. But where is Russia to come in? In South China? That isn't the way the Russians do business. They use their satellites that far away from home.

Some think such an attack on Red China would signal the Soviet Union to launch an all-out attack against America. There is no indication that the kremlin wants World War II. There is evidence, however, that the Kremlin wants to avoid a general war. The Reds want war only when the other methods of conquest, like infiltration, fail.

An indication of how reluctant the Communists are to fight was provided in Greece. They lost Greece after they had almost taken it. They had no stomach for the stiffened resistance there after the Americans sent help.

The important thing to remember, however, is that the Reds in China, who have shown they never intend to let genuine peace break out in the Far East, can be chased out. They have an insoluble problem that can be their downfall: inadequate transportation.

The Sandman's Castle

By Frank Tripp

If you should see him sailing up Seneca Lake, with a huge old-fashioned delivery wagon umbrella for a sail, lolling in a rocking chair at the stern of a home-made pram, you'd never guess that he's a scientist of note. Yet, maybe you know some scientists, and might guess it.

Anyway he's a nationally known one, and dabbles in eccentricity for diversion; eccentricity with a capital X.

THIS YARN MAY first tell even some of his summer neighbors who "the sandman" really is. Our kids named him that, from his frequent appearance on the lake at their nap times

He's Albert G. Ingalls, 30 years with The Scientific American, its erstwhile Associate Editor and Science Editor; at 65 contributing editor and conductor of its Amateur Scientist Department, with emphasis on geology and astronomy.

Around Seneca he's just plain "Bert," and mischievously wallows in the knowledge that there are head - shaking natives who think him a "nut." He gets a kick out of nursing their delusion, and chuckling "maybe they are right."

HIS HEAVY 16-foot pram, the "Rosie O'Grady," he built in his cellar at Cranford, N. J., and shipped to Glenora-on-Seneca. It is the sturdy barge with which he, all alone, worked 15 years raising 80 tons of rock off the bottom of the lake to build his "castle."

There, also alone, he spends his summers, sheltered in his moated, 7 by 10 foot "cell," built off shore on solid ledge rock, with a 12 by 18 foot foundation, like the base of a huge chimney.

Up one inside wall he left protruding rocks which serve as stepping stones by which to climb to his bed, which rests on larger protruding rock slabs, eight feet above the floor. There, as on a shelf, he sleeps the six night hours that is active brain doesn't scientifically employ him.

—:—

THE GRAY CASTLE is a monument to an ingenious man's hobby and perseverance. Passing craft change their course to see it. Every stone of the thousands of rocks one lone man searched out for size and shape moved and placed, even to the twelve - foot height of the strange structure. Some of the stones measure two by eight feet and are four to six inches thick

Ingalls started in 1927 and, save for one year abroad, he kept the countryside guessing his objective until 1943, when he put on the roof and called it finished: an average of less than 10 inches of vertical growth per summer.

Now well past his three-score, he's thinking that maybe next year he'll put in electricity and a pump. To date nature has provided his utilities. He drinks the pure water of Seneca, taken upcurrent from where he bathes and does his weekly wash.

THUS, ALONE with the stars, has lived for 25 summers a modern man of profound scientific knowledge, as primitively as on the same spot lived the Indians centuries ago.

He has builded a monument more enduring than any Iroquois left in this historic region. Only an earthquake or an A-bomb could quiver Bert Ingalls' castle. It will survive as have the Pharaoh's pyramids.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Lines to a Faithful Pooch

"Trudy, a seeing-eye dog, was admitted to an audience with the Pope today. The dog accompanies his blind mistress, Miss Eiken Noone of Philadelphia."—News item from Rome.

His Holiness, with leaders of most faiths and followers of most creeds, we think, would take no other attitude. For, in a seeing-eye dog, are love, devotion, faithfulness and a dedication to the service of the handicapped.

Trudy, you need feel no unworthiness — no doubt of your reception — in any cathedral, church or chapel. The Pope warms the hearts of men by his attitude.

You're a dog, Trudy, a mere animal. But compassion, adoration, kindness and an undying love of man comes to you in the deep sense of the Sermon on the Mount and the precepts of all creeds

"When thou doeth good do not sound a trumpet before thee." "And whosoever shall ask thee to go a mile, go with him twain!" "The light of the body is the eye." "Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works."

-:-

"The greatest of these is charity." Well, in concern for others, for sacrifice and for complete devotion, it is hard to top a dog, especially a seeing-eye dog, Trudy

Yours is not the occasional visit, but the full devotion, hour after hour, day after day, year after year.

Every footstep of a human being, your mistress, is guided by you Her safety is your romping across gleaming fields for a seeing-charge. Her very life is under your watch. No eye dog. No delighted response to the whistle of a freckled-faced kid bound for the swimmin' hole. None of the freedoms of all other pooches everywhere.

No dog's life for you! You're enlisted in a great cause; you're a part of a wonderful army of the truly dedicated and the wholly helpful.

Humans admit they can't do what you do so freely and instinctively But all people understand, especially the sightless.

They know that in any cathedral the stained glass windows, the images of the saints, the crucifix and the chalice are, in some strange way, all reflected in the mood and spirit of a seeing-eye pooch, faithful to the death, sacrificing, guiding and obeying the concepts of goodness.

We have trouble thinking of Major General Bill Dean, home from his long Korean imprisonment, without borrowing from Kipling and singing

It was "Dean' Dean' Dean'"
With the bullets kicking' dust sports on the green;
Though they belted you and flayed you,
By the livin' Gawd that made you,
You're a better man than THEY ARE,
Gen'ral Dean!

Andrei Vishinsky met with the press at Danny's Hideaway, a New York restaurant, the other day. He gesticulated so frenziedly that a customer asked a waiter what was wrong. "That's Vishinsky," was the reply. "There's an argument over the check for the sirloin steak and he insists that it be decided by neutrals."

Tom Fool, top handicap race horse, is through, and we wonder whether it's because he lost humility, wrote a letter to the boss or got mixed up with an agent

Win National AP Honors

Four Ohio Papers Cited For Top News Coverage

CHICAGO (AP)—Four Ohio member newspapers of The Associated Press today won national honors for outstanding news and newsphoto coverage.

They were awarded national citations by The Associated Press Managing Editors' Assn., meeting in annual sessions here. The citations went to the Findlay Republican-Courier, Portsmouth Times, Columbus Ohio State Journal and Columbus Dispatch.

The managing editors' association is composed of news department executives of newspapers that are members of The Associated Press. The AP is a cooperative group of newspapers and radio stations functioning to expedite the exchange of news and news photographs among its members.

The Findlay Republican-Courier and the Portsmouth Times received national honors because of their outstanding coverage of news events

The citations to the Ohio State Journal and Columbus Dispatch were in recognition of outstanding cooperation in providing news pictures for distribution via AP's Wirephoto system Photographs are sent by wire on the Wirephoto network covering the country from coast to coast.

Findlay's honors stemmed from coverage of tornadoes that swept northwestern Ohio last June.

Portsmouth's resulted from a comprehensive report on the status of the atomic plant under construction in nearby Pike County.

Graphic photographs of the riot at Ohio Penitentiary starting on Halloween Eve 1952 brought the honors to the Columbus newspapers.

Richard Moorhead, news editor of the Findlay Republican-Courier, had been at his desk only a short time when the tornadoes ripped across his section of the state. Telephone lines went down as the winds swirled through farm land, towns and villages, disrupting communications.

Morehead, balked in attempts to survey the casualties and damage by telephone, took off on a personal tour of the area.

Back at his office, he quickly made all his information available to The Associated Press, enabling other members of the news-gathering organization to print prompt and complete reports of the situation. And, he continued to feed additional details to the AP as his work of cleaning up loose ends continued throughout the night.

The citation to the Findlay Republican-Courier on Moorhead's work reads:

"For the thorough reporting in behalf of AP members of the assault of tornadoes that swept the northwest Ohio area, volunteering the graphic account of a Republican-Courier reporter who toured the area while telephone lines were down."

When word came from Washington that Pike County was to be the site of an atomic plant, Editor John G. Green of the Portsmouth Times knew his staff had a new job of work cut out for it. Reporting the many and varied activities connected with the birth and growth of an atomic installation would be an exacting one. Green assigned L. W. (Bill) Burns, a veteran member of his staff, as his chief atomic reporter.

Nearing the first anniversary of the atomic project, Burns went to work on a detailed report of what had happened, what was in sight for the future, and what had been the impact of the venture upon a countryside jerked from a quiet, rural existence into the whirlwind of a bustling industrial project.

Burns' story ran 1,500 words. Editor Green, reading it, realized its importance as news for other AP newspapers and made it available for distribution by AP. The review was used widely, the same day it appeared in the Portsmouth Times.

The APME citation in recognition reads:

"After exhibiting commendable enterprise in preparing a thorough situation story on the construction of an atomic energy plant in nearby Pike County, Ohio—a well-rounded account of the effects of sudden industrialization on a predominantly ruraly area—the Times made the 1,500 word story available to AP members simultaneously with its appearance in the Times."

Coverage of the campaigns of national and state candidates took a back seat when word of a riot was flashed from Ohio Penitentiary in Columbus on Halloween Eve of 1952.

Several reporters and photographers were out of town following candidates when the alarm went out.

Among those caught shorthanded was Columbus AP. But the State Journal stepped in to keep pictures rolling via Wirephoto. It made all its negatives of the riot and fire available to AP promptly for Wirephoto use.

Within the space of a few hours 10 pictures of the exciting night furnished by the State Journal were expedited on the national Wirephoto network. The State Journal cameramen were Bill Foley and Charles Wilson, the latter no longer connected with the paper. One picture by Foley, showing a prison chaplain taking a knife from a riotous prisoner, won particular attention.

With daylight the following morning, Harold Higgins, Columbus Dispatch photographer, flew over the smoking ruins of burned buildings within the penitentiary grounds and make a graphic air view, moved promptly via Wirephoto, it rated commendation from all sides along with another view, of armed troops entering the grounds, made by Jack Hutton, another Dispatch cameraman.

The Ohio State Journal and Columbus Dispatch were cited in today's awards as follows:

"For the exceptionally competent spot picture coverage job done by photographers of both papers on the Ohio State Penitentiary riot of Oct. 31, 1952. On this occasion the State Journal made available to the AP immediately all its staff negatives—with 10 State Journal pictures on Wirephoto with a few hours after the story broke, taken by Bill Foley and Charles Wilson. Later picture copy by Dispatch photographers Harold Higgins and Jack Hutton included aerial view of the scene, and troops entering the prison."

Each of the four Ohio newspapers received a citation certificate from the managing editors' association and a letter of congratulations from the AP general office.

Police, Patrol Report Four Minor Mishaps

Four non-injury traffic accidents in the city and county were reported today by city police and state patrolmen. Two of the accidents were investigated by city police.

Two trucks and a car were involved in one of the accidents at 6.36 p.m. Tuesday at 443 N. Main St.

A truck driven by James J. Hinamon, 76, of 450 N. Main St., traveling south and attempting to park was struck by a tractor-trailer operated by Duane E. Jenkins, 26, of Ravena, O., as the Hinamon truck was moving on to another parking space. The impact drove the Hinamon truck into a parked car owned by Herbert Stephens of 600 Patterson St., causing minor damage to its left front fender.

The right rear tire and rim and right front tire on the trailer of the Jenkins outfit was damaged and there was damage to the left front fender, wheel and bumper of the Hinamon truck.

The other city accident occurred at Davids and Columbia Sts. at 10 35 p.m. yesterday. Cars driven by Jesse R. Downs, 26, of 559 Davids St. and Teddy Lynn Pollock, 16, of 682 Wood St. collided at the intersection.

There was no damage to the Pollock car but the right front fender and bumper of the Downs car was damaged.

Patrol Lists 2 Mishaps

Two minor accidents were reported by the Marion station of the state highway patrol this morning.

A two vehicle accident at the junction of County Roads 175 and 183 at 8:30 a.m. yesterday resulted in a citation for Allen Green, 18, of 1136 W. Center St. Green was cited to appear in Municipal Court Friday on a charge of passing at an intersection.

The accident occurred as both vehicles were east-bound on 175 Green attempted to pass a tractor with trailer, driven by William Barnette, 33, of Nashville, Tenn., which was making a left turn on to 183.

There was moderate damage to the right front fender and right doors of Green's car and to the left side of the tractor. There were no injuries.

No damage was reported in a one-car accident on County Road 106 at the Pennsylvania Railroad crossing at 6 30 p.m. yesterday

Wade W. Gillespie, 42, of near Marion was driving west when he lost control of the car which went off the road to the right, striking a railroad crossing sign.

BAD RHYME

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP)—Mrs M McGaughran said the huge trailer-truck had this sign on the back: "Pass this side (left) and you'll be the leader; Pass this side (right) and you'll see St Peter."

Department Lists Two Minor Blazes

Marion firemen made two minor runs yesterday and today.

At 1:45 a.m. today, firemen from W. Center St. station were called to the Commerical Steel Casting Co. on Cheney Ave. to extinguish a fire in a flat car.

Hot metal out of the furnace thought to have coolde had been placed in the flat car. It ignited the wooden platform of the car. Loss has not been estimated.

Firemen from Mark St station were summoned to the corner of State and Fairview Sts. yesterday at 7:26 p.m. where a passerby had discarded a lighted match and set fir to leaves and grass. There was no loss.

BEES VS. BALLOONS

LONGMEADOW, Mass. (UP) — As decorations for a garden fete, the American Legion flew a number of gaily decorated balloons over the affair. But a swarm of bees appeared and punctured every balloon.

Estimated fire losses in the United States were $784,953,000 in 1952 compared with $731,505,000 in 1951.

Two Ties Are Recorded In School Board Voting

Two ties were recorded in the unofficial results of the elections for members of the local township school boards in Marion County Tuesday.

One of the ties was in Morral where Marvin Crabtree and Donald Williams, who finished behind Maurice Heller and Charlton Myers for the number three spot on the school board, both received with 60 votes.

The other tie occurred in Scott, where write-in candidates Harry Longacre and Harold Ludwig both got two votes. Registered candidate Eva Lemke pulled 58 votes to assure herself of one of the two positions.

Another tie, which will not affect the outcome of the election, was recorded in Meeker, K. W. Shults and Kenneth Coon both were given 131 votes. Only Donald Mattix was higher than these two men. Since there were three openings on the board, the tied men will both be given positions.

Write-in candidates took offices in two of the districts. Ray Thompson and Justin Parsell were elected in Marion township; while W. D. McClasky was selected for the unexpired term in Pleasant.

Balloting was close in several of the school districts. In some instances, only 10 to 20 votes were between the winning and losing candidates.

7 of 13 Issues in County Get Appoval of Voters

Unofficial tabulation of the 13 special issues which were voted on in Tuesday's election showed that seven were approved by Marion County voters.

Winning approval were four of five school bond issues and tax levies in county school districts.

Also approved were two village tax levies on the ballot and the charter commission question proposed in Marion city.

A tax levy in Claridon Township, for one-half of a mill for five years for current expenses, failed by only two percentage points. The proposed levy needed 60 per cent of the vote but received only 58 per cent.

School operating levies approved by majority vote were:

Claridon, 2 mills for five years. Green Camp, renewal and decrease to 3 mills for five years; Meeker, 2 mills for five years; Prospect, renewal and increase to 4.5 mills for five years.

A school bond issue turned down by voters was at Grand Prairie where the asking was $83,000 for school addition construction program. It received only a 41 per cent vote where 55 per cent vote was required.

The two village tax levies approved were at Caledonia, 2 mills for five years, and Green Camp, 4 mills for five years, both for street lighting. Only 44 per cent of the vote favored the Marion city tax levy for three-quarters of a mill for 5 years for operation of the city sewage plant.

Marion County voters turned down the three proposed tax levies; the elevator at the courthouse, requiring 55 per cent vote but receiving only 20 per cent; building construction and hospital unit for the Marion County Home, requiring 60 per cent vote but receiving only 37 per cent and operating expenses, requiring 60 per cent vote but receiving only 25 per cent.

Too Far Too Fast

Synthetic Fiber Industry Suffers Growing Pains

NEW YORK (AP)—The man-made fiber industry may be suffering a little from the pains of growing so fast. It also feels the sting of jibes from producers of natural fibers. So today it seeks two thing

It wants a few users and blenders of fibers to cease and desist from misusing, or under - using, synthetic fibers and advertising the resulting fabric as the miraculous answer to all the consumers' prayers.

And it seeks a way to educate consumers and store clerks as to the properties of various fibers and blends and as to what to expect from and how to treat them.

There is talk in the industry today of forming an "institute of man-made fibers and fabrics" to work toward these ends, along with existing groups striving mightily at the job.

The problem, as set forth by a spokesman for the Associated Men's Wear Retailers of New York: A portion of the buying public has been upset by "exaggerated claims and too-soon use" of some of the newer fibers.

The reply by manufacturers of the new synthetics: Some fabric firms have approached the problem of blending fibers on a haphazard basis.

The fiber makers contend a few ignorant or penny - pinching garment makers have used an insignificant amount of a miracle fiber in a blend and then claimed their fabric had all of its miraculous properties, or have used the wrong fibers in the first place.

Miss Irene L. Blunt, secretary-treasurer of the National Federation of Textiles Inc., says the man-made fiber industry must redouble its efforts to persuade garment makers not to do this.

But she lays even more stress on getting stores to train their sale help. Many clerks, she says, through ignorance or indifference, pass along to customers garments, honestly made, but carelessly retailed as possessing "miracle" properties

Garments should be labelled as to content, Miss Blunt says, and clerks should be taught to tell customers just what is to be expected from each fiber blend, and also just how they should be cleaned and pressed, or washed and ironed.

And the consumer must be taught to ask before buying blindly.

Dry cleaners and laundries are learning how to handle the new fabrics, Miss Blunt says. And manufacturers are constantly experimenting to develop new finishes, improve washability and other qualities, and perfect new and better performing blends aimed at specific wear needs.

"Miracle fibers donotnecessarily make miracle consumer products and no single fiber is ideal for all uses," Henry L Dalton, an American Viscose Corp. vice president, points out The problem is to find the fiber or blend of fibers that is suitable for a particular end product This the industry is now tackling increasingly.

It is estimated that six million tons of water flow into the Dead Sea daily, all of which eventually is removed by evaporation.

Midwest Feels Winter's Touch

Wide Area Gets Snow As Temperature Drops

By The Associated Press

There was a touch of winter in Western and Midwest states today with light snow and freezing temperatures.

Light snow fell in parts of Wyoming, Colorado and extreme Western sections of Kansas and Nebraska, and also in the Lake Superior region. Denver reported one inch of snow on the ground early today. There was a similar amount at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

The only other wet spot in the country early today was in New England which reported light rain.

Temperatures ranged from the 20s from the Northern Rockies eastward through the Upper Mississippi Valley to generally in the 40s in the Northeast and in the 50s and 60s in the South Atlantic and southern plains states. West of the Rockies readings varied from the high 30s in the far Northwest to the upper 50s in the far Southwest.

These Days

By George Sokolsky

The signs of the times are often read in little things, like the emphasis on the Godfrey-La Rosa fracas. Here is just an employer-employe argument over who gets the most fan mail or should an employe have a lawyer of his own when the employer is willing to provide one for nothing.

SOKOLSKY

Actually, how much does it really matter to [illegible] millions of people who read every word of it.

Perhaps their answer would be that nothing else matters very much anymore, which is probably quite true. The people have an unerring intuition about such things.

They have been bluffed so much and for so long a time that the commonplace becomes a relief.

-:-

GREAT AFFAIRS have become so fantastic and even so monotonous that many feel the less they worry about them, the happier they will be.

Besides, everybody is all mixed up by the varieties of news and opinions and there is wonderment as to what is really true.

In the Godfrey-La Rosa fracas, it is possible for even the layman to recognize a psychological pattern — the older man feeling the hoof-beats of time on his heels as youth crowds him.

In the Italo-Yugoslav quarrel, even the experts wonder why this could not have been anticipated and avoided.

Besides, Arthur Godfrey is popular and La Rosa has developed a following and they are our own kind of people, so a homey row is a relief from the great men, but this fellow Tito has us puzzled.

-:-

WHAT KIND of a guy is this? And when will he cut our throats?

Or take that quarrel between Israel and the Arabs: it reads like something out of the Old Testament. The walls of Jericho are falling again. But do we need to go to war over that? War has begun to bore.

A good old-fashioned quarrel, like that between Rita Hayworth and Aly Khan, makes hot reading, but what is said at Panmunjom is the same thing that was said a month ago and a year ago and what are we doing there anyhow?

Then Rita gets herself married to this Haymes boy, whoever he may be, and settles down to the simple life, if that can be.

All the sob sisters sob about how she always wanted to put out her husband's slippers and live in gentle domesticity — only she never picked that kind of a husband, poor dear!

THEN ALONG comes a scandal involving the Republicans in New York State, which is amusing in a way because Tom Dewey has always been so righteous and nobody could believe that the Republicans would ever be like the Democrats.

Nobody believed that the Republicans would ever tie up with crooked labor leaders, some of whom are actually in prison.

Everybody likes to catch the pure at impurities. It is like a fat man falling on a banana peel.

Besides, it takes the mind off Panmunjom and Trieste and what Winston Churchill said to John Foster Dulles, the best of which we know is never given out.

-:-

AND WHY should it be? Sir Winston undoubtedly complained about being rationed as to liquid refreshments concerning which he is one of the world's greatest authorities.

Also, the old boy must have growled no end that his doctors are making him inefficient by not letting him smoke 18 big, black cigars a day. It is nerve-wracking, what these doctors do to us.

While we imagine the great sit in solemn conversation about top secrets and ennobling thoughts, the likelihood is that they get down to the simple things in life, that is, the high cost of new clothes in London.

-:-

UNFORTUNATELY, these are really difficult times and decisions are being made which must affect our lives and the lives of our children.

If we all run away from the boringly unpleasant, no one will attempt to find a cure and the politicians will cover everything up so that they may remain longer in politics.

In a free society, the people have to know the truth even if it hurts.

Nothing is easier than to shove the truth under the carpet to be attended to in due course. But time never stops and events never wait.

We can only escape from ourselves, not from the forces that move.

(King Features Syndicate)

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Not too many weeks ago I stood on the barren bank of the Jordan River. I disobeyed the Israeli soldier's instructions by walking towards the border Bridge of the Daughters of Jacob, beyond which is a Syrian fort. An Arab legionnaire across the narrow waterway unslung his rifle. My friends grabbed me and pulled me back.

RIESEL

We want no trouble or incidents, they told me. We want and can have peace, they said. The Arabs need our machines, our industry. We need their food. United the Middle East can become a great market for America.

Later, I spoke at length with the Israeli foreign minister, Mosne Sharett. What was said was off the record. But the other day, when war seemed imminent on the scorched Holy Land hills, which are heavier with history than they are with rock, I slipped into Washington to offer what I knew to some friends in the State Department.

There I learned that the CIO had invited Secretary of State Dulles to its convention — and he will be there unless a NATO conference takes him to Europe in mid-November.

-:-

DULLES WANTS very much to speak to CIO, his friends say. For, they believe, it may be one of his last major speeches as our "foreign minister." They believe he will resign about the first of the year.

Oddly enough, if Dulles does go, he will be one of two of President Eisenhower's Republican cabinet who will be warmly received by the nation's most militant union chiefs.

The other will be the new secretary of labor, Jim Mitchell, who will take with him Ike's message to the gathering in Cleveland the week of Nov. 16.

Mitchell will tell the convention that the White House is ready to revamp the Taft - Hartley law and is making arrangements for consultation with labor leaders on the project.

But the respect for Mitchell and Dulles will not deter President Walter Reuther and the other CIO leaders from launching the new phase of labor's war on Gen Eisenhower.

-:-

FROM THEN on out, the attack will be against Ike himself. Previously, the CIO has avoided personal blasts. Now the President will be charged with leading the country "to unemployment and depression." The attacks will be bitter, indeed.

The same circles which predict Dulles' resignation are saying that Thomas Dewey will resign as governor of New York and quit politics shortly. There is, of course, a chance that he will be offered the secretary of state chair in the cabinet.

There will be one sharp difference between the AFL and CIO conventions — the outspoken attitude on Senator McCarthy. The AFL record reveals comparatively little criticism of the investigating senator. This was no accident.

The CIO will, of course, blast the man from Wisconsin.

-:-

TALKING OF McCarthy, for some reason, reminds me of Russia. The Soviets have just claimed they invented 3-D movies — several generations back, they brag.

They are now constructing special "stereo - movie" theaters in Leningrad and Kiev. Only trouble is they haven't yet produced any 3-D feature films for exhibition in these theaters . . .

The concern in the highest GOP circles over possible loss of Congress in 1954 can't be over-estimated.

With only a four - seat margin in the House, and actually a minority in the Senate, the Republican strategists now are planning to match the labor campaign in the industrial areas, where the GOP is weakest.

The Republicans will start early in January, just as the powerful labor leagues will. And the GOP is experimenting with a traveling school for politics in Massachusetts.

-:-

THERE THE PLAN is to enroll at least 200 Republican workers in each of 10 vital districts. This means one representative from each ward committee. Halls will be hired in each area for a weekly session, five weeks in a row.

The evening will start with lectures in practical politics by state leaders — and will be followed by socials to get out the young people, and especially the women, for whom the AFL and CIO are also launching drives this campaign.

While the country's talking about prison paroles, let me report that labor extortionist Joe Fay isn't the only jailbird with powerful friends on the outside.

THE MEXICAN authorities are being pressured to free Jacques Mornard Van Den Dresche, alias Frank Jackson, who murdered Bolshevik leader Leon Trotsky 13 years ago with a razor sharp alpenstock. Jackson, sent up for 20 years, is eligible for parole next month . . .

To date, Attorney General Brownell has put 31 of the country's top racketeers in the docket for deportation, including Al (the executioner) Anastasia and Joe Doto, alias Adonis. The government now is going after Frankie Costello.

Casey Still Ahead

By Inez Robb

It occurred to me recently that the manufacturers of toy electric trains might be having a tough time meeting the challenge of interplanetary travel. I had a hunch that Casey Jones was probably taking a shellacking from Space Cadet.

INEZ ROBB

Well, sir, I couldn't have been wronger. Casey is still mounting the cabin with his orders in his hands—orders to Space Cadet to move over and let the diesels roll.

-:-

NO MATTER what new travel gimmick comes along, kids of all ages are true to trains, says Lawrence Cowen, president of the Lionel Corporation. This firm, which produced its first toy electric train 50 years ago, expects to top all records in 1953.

"It's this way," said Young Mr. Cowen in his modern office, surrounded by toy trains, "a kid gets a plastic fish-bowl to go over his head and an atom - ray disintegrator gun, but everything else about Space Cadet the child has to supply out of his own head, out of his imagination.

"He hasn't anything tangible to play with in Space Cadet except the fish bowl and the gun and maybe a uniform of some kind. He has to imagine everything else.

"Even if he wants to play cowboy and has a complete cowboy outfit, he still, 99 times out of a hundred, has to imagine the horse.

"But when the same kid plays with trains, he has a real, miniature train that he can actually control. He can really be engineer, conductor and brakeman of a train that he can start and stop, switch, back, load and unload."

-:-

EVEN IN THIS air age, there is a continuing romance about trains that lures kids to the station to watch the trains come in, even as it did their fathers and grandfathers. And despite the advent of diesel engines in railroading, the old coal burners are in constant demand for toy R R. lines.

Cowen thinks the popularity of the coal burner can be traced to the fact that the smoke which issues from its stack is irresistible to kids. And the old - time whistle, versus the mournful horn on diesel engines, is equally irresistible to their nostalgic parents.

"In fact, the big railroads are putting whistles back on their diesels," Mr. Cowen said. "Passengers like 'em better than those moo-moo diesel horns."

-:-

COWEN ALWAYS knows what the gig — or real — railroads are up to long before the public. The railroads send him the blue prints of all new equipment long before it is ready for public use. Often Cowen's toy electric trains show up with a facsimile of the new equipment before it is actually in service. It is a little easier and quicker to make a small - scale model than the real thing.

"The railroads like this 'advance showing,'" the toy railroader said. "It gets the public accustomed to 'the new look' in equipment by the time the equipment is rolling."

However, sometimes the kids themselves show resistance to a new model still in the blue - print stage so far as the big railroads are concerned.

-:-

THEY OFTEN demand a faithful duplicate of a piece of equipment they have actually seen and will take no substitute.

Is it true what they say about fathers monopolizing toy trains to such an extent that kids, in self defense, have to play Space Cadet, I asked.

Well said Cowen, you can get some idea from the fact that during the Truman administration, there was a toy electric train in the cabinet room.

"Put that down," Mrs. Hayes shouted. "You didn't pay for it."

School Withdrawals Worry U.S. Educators

CHICAGO (UP) — The nation is losing half of its "superior brains" because of early dropouts from school, Dr. E. F. Lindquist, director of Iowa Testing Programs, University of Iowa, says.

Lindquist said that for every person who goes to college there is one who should be going, but is not, and often he has dropped out of high school."

He urged educators at a meeting in Chicago to use education development tests to identify the talented child," keep him in high school and persuade him to go to college.

Lindquist said these youngsters can be identified by tests as early as the ninth grade.

The most important function of development tests, said Lindquist, is to conserve our country's greatest natural resource—our youth."

DYE KEEPS SEAMS STRAIGHT

NEW YORK (UP)—Seams in ladies' full-fashioned stockings are in for a new, non-puckered look. One manufacturer (Central Yarn and Dyeing Co., Gastonia, N. C.) claims to have developed a new method of dyeing nylon yarn used to sew the seams of nylon hose. It says the method makes the seams "pucker free."

SPELLED DOWN

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (UP)—Robert Barham, 29, went to prison for one to 10 years after he failed a spelling test. Judge Ollie Reeves sentenced Barham for larceny when spelling in a fictitious note given Barham by detectives. He that figured in the case correspelled bought "bout" and sale ponded with a "spelling exam" "seal."

Spikes Controversies

Ike Plays Fireman for Official Family

WASHINGTON (AP)—Besides his other duties President Eisenhower every once in a while has to grab a fireman's hat and beat out a blaze started by his official family.

Eisenhower and those around him thus are learning the hard way it's not only what they say but how and when that counts.

In the last month Eisenhower or someone close to him like Secretary of State Dulles has turned the hose on the Defense Department several times.

Early in October, when other Republican officials were sounding dark warnings about the danger from Russia, Secretary of Defense Wilson voiced what was taken as optimism.

Wilson, who had headed General Motors until he went to the Pentagon seems frequently to speak his mind more freely than others who came here before or after him.

In answer to a question at a news conference about Russia's ability to make an attack on this country—this was October and Russia had its first hydrogen explosion in August—Wilson said:

"I think they are three or four years back of where we are so that to say . . they've got bombs ready to drop and airplanes to drop them with I would personally doubt a little."

This seemed in such conflict with the publicly stated gloomy views of others that Eisenhower turned the sprinkler system on.

He ordered his administration's officials not to say any more about Russia and its atomic ability without first checking with this country's Atomic Energy Commission.

But at a news conference one week later, Wilson said he stood by what he had said.

Another week passed. Came another news conference and more questions. Wilson said the development of new weapons would in the long permit this country to pull some of its troops out of Europe.

This troop reduction he said would be worked out over a "reasonable period" of time. He emphasized that no men would be brought home "tomorrow morning."

While in this country such a statement might seem to mean Wilson was talking only of the distant future and therefore not making a sensational disclosure it jittered many Europeans. In facing Russia on the continent they want Americans beside them in actuality as well as in spirit.

Eisenhower's administration got out the fire extinguisher again. Dulles stepped out front to say flatly this country had no present plans to cut back its forces in Europe.

And the President at his Oct. 19 news conference when asked about it said there is no plan of any kind at this time for reduction of combat forces anywhere.

Then on Monday one of Wilson's right hand men, Harold E. Talbott, secretary of the Air Force, was reported to have told reporters in Madrid this country's Air Force occupying Spanish bases would be supplied with "atomic weapons."

This information caused a stir in the capital. Dulles and Wilson after an early morning conference with Eisenhower yesterday, said there is no plan for storing atomic weapons in Spain.

Talbott by this time in Athens denied having said what he was reported to have said by The Associated Press, United Press and New York Times.

Sen. Byrd Still Holds Virginia Under Control

Democratic Candidate For Governor Elected; GOP's Showing Better

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Virginia stuck by its custom and named another Democratic governor in a general election yesterday that found the political organization of Sen Harry F Byrd well able to handle its most serious Republican challenge.

Thomas B Stanley, 63 a furniture manufacturer and former congressman who campaigned largely on the organization record, defeated Ted Dalton, 52 a state Senator and GOP national committeeman

Runs Up Best Vote

But in losing to Stanley by a vote of 219 653 to 175,505 on the basis of nearly complete returns from the state's 1815 polling places, Dalton ran up the best vote and the biggest percentage ever scored by a Republican in a Virginia race for governor.

Dalton, given a boost by the Eisenhower victory of last year the election of three Republican congressmen and the disenchantment of some Democrats who put part of the blame for last year on Byrd got a shade better than 44 per cent of the vote to Stanley's 55-plus Independent Howard Carwile, a third candidate with .07 of the vote was no factor

The best previous effort of the Republicans was 37 per cent in the election for governor in 1929 — a year as was this one, following a Virginia vote for a Republican president

Succeeds Gov. Battle

Stanley takes over from Gov John S Battle on Jan 20 Virginia governors, elected for four-year terms, may not succeed themselves in office

Dalton like the Democratic campaign chieftains, knew it was Byrd's all-out attack in the final two weeks of the campaign that kept him from possibly scoring a big upset, or at least making it closer

"I think I was touching them pretty keen until the Senator got into it with all his force," said Dalton in his easy drawl when he conceded the race.

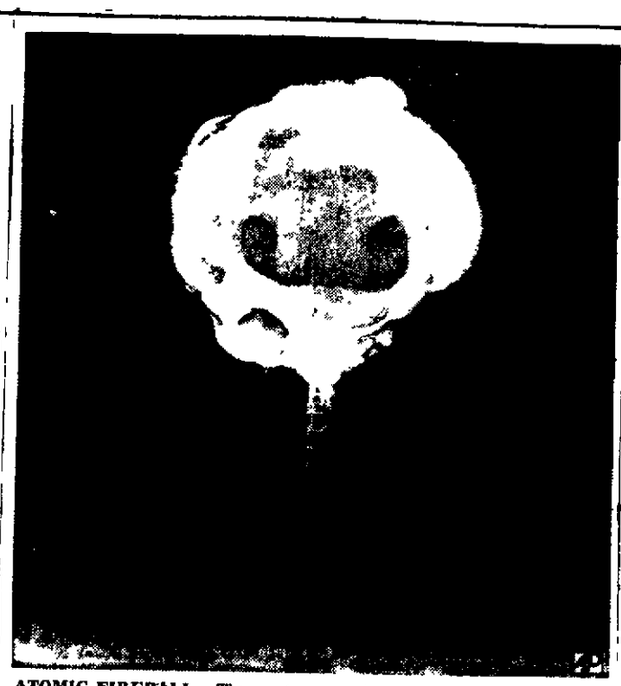
Stanley's campaign didn't seem to be catching on until a few weeks ago and apparently he was "touching them." Then Dalton proposed a 100 million dollar revenue bond issue for road improvements And Byrd proud of Virginia's debt free record and parent of the state's pay-as-you-go system, came out swinging

Stretch Drive Pays Off

He was followed by ex-Gov William M Tuck now a congressman Sen A Willis Robertson and Battle The big guns of the party went to work And Stanley's headquarters began to offer brighter estimates of the situation

From his home at Berryville Byrd's comment on the outcome was

"The returns speak for themselves."



ATOMIC FIREBALL. This picture, made with a special camera at a millionth of a second exposure shows an atomic fireball disintegrating a steel tower an instant after it was set off at the Atomic Energy Commission's proving grounds in Nevada last spring Lines leading down from the fireball are guy wires stabilizing the tower The firm which released the photo said it was an untouched picture made from a copy negative because the original negative 14x5 inches, with the fireball image about a half inch) was so overexposed due to glare of fireball, that it was difficult to make many prints

Quick Brown Fox Dead as Test Line

VICTORIA, B C (AP)—The quick brown fox is dead

And now is no longer the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party

But "a quick movement of the enemy would jeopardize six gunboats"

Irma Wright, five-time winner of the Canadian speed typing championship, said yesterday the athletic fox and good men have been superceded by the battle maneuver, for purposes of typing practice

The quick movement etc contains all the letters of the alphabet and gives a good workout for supple fingers.

Although the use of "clipper" ships in the 1850s gave Americans an advantage on some ocean routes, America's brilliant era in merchant shipping already had begun to decline at this time

Houston City Detective Is Out One Pair of Pants

HOUSTON, Tex (UP)—City Detective D M. Fults won't get the $15 he asked from the city for the loss of the seat of his pants.

Fults was thrown from a police car in a June 19 accident, striking the pavement with the rear, lower portion of his body

In ruling on the request for the $15 reimbursement, City Atty. Will Sears yesterday said "The city does not insure the clothing of its detectives against accident even those portions where more than ordinary wear and tear can be expected."

State Official Will Seek To Have His Budget Cut

PROVIDENCE, R I (UP)—A state official says he is going to seek legislation to get his budget cut by $1,000.

Edward C Hayes Jr administrator of the State Division of Fish and Game, said the law forces him to take the money—and he doesn't want it.

The money is for "egg bearing lobsters."

Hayes told a budget hearing yesterday

"We have a law on the books that says we have to pay for egg bearing lobsters if they are presented to us So I have to have money to pay for them The trouble is we don't have a lobster hatchery any more"

Ransom May Be Deductible, Tax Men Say

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert C. Greenlease may be able to deduct on his income tax return the approximately $300,000 still missing from the ransom money he paid to his son's kidnap-murderers.

That seems to be the outlook if the lost money does not turn up by Dec. 31.

Tax technicians at Internal Revenue Bureau headquarters emphasized, in reply to a querry last night, that an official decision on the case has not been determined.

These informants said the circumstances would decide how the Tax Bureau would rule. If, for example, Greenlease had insurance covering his loss, the missing money would not be deductible for tax purposes.

Informants said it appeared from published reports of the Kansas City kidnap case that a section of the revenue code providing for losses by casualty or theft would cover the lost Greenlease ransom money.

The tax saving to Greenlease, if the money is not recovered and is ruled deductible, would depend on the amount of his income and his other deductions.

If Greenlease's income, after making all family allowances (including a joint return with Mrs. Greenlease), and after deductions for expenses, was $300,000 he would save about $25,000 in taxes by deducting the lost ransom money. This is on the basis of standard tax tables.

If all, or any part, of the lost money is recovered in the future, Greenlease would be required then to pay taxes on the amount recovered.

COFFEE ARGUMENT

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP)—After their mid-morning "coffee break" in a basement cafeteria was abolished, state workers refused to be pacified by a caterer sent to their desks. They complained that sometimes their coffee was delivered betimes when they were ready to go out for lunch. Furthermore, they said, no time was saved.

ALLERGIC TO ARMY

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UP)—Robert G. Paulson, 19, puzzled police by confessing burglaries they hadn't heard about. Later they learned he was an AWOL soldier who preferred jail to returning to the Army.

why pay for waste water?

In homes where the water softener is owned outright, regenerating the softener wastes many, many gallons of water just to flush salt out of the softener tank. This is a constant expense, that's repeated every time the softener is regenerated.

District Head Talks to Rotary

Homer E. Reeder Pays Visit to Local Club

Guest speaker at the Marion Rotary Club meeting Tuesday noon at Hotel Harding was Homer E. Reeder of Lima, district rotary governor.

Encouraging the members of the club to take more initiative in their club and work toward bringing more classes of people in the club, Reeder called the Rotary the "best place to go outside of church." A successful Rotarian, he stated, is one who helps make his community a success, not a financial genius who earns his money at the expense of others.

"Go back to your business," stated Reeder, "to promote vocational welfare and support the individuals who are working for the community." The businesses of Rotarians, as well as their club, must be flexible, so as to help the people of the community and not to "cut off their ear" if they get in the way, he declared.

Reeder was voted "Boss of the Year" by the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Lima. He is president of the Lima Electric Motor Company, Inc.; the Lima Armature Works, Inc.; and the Homer Manufacturing Company; he is also a member of the board of directors of the Lima YMCA.

Visiting Rotarians were: Paul Runk of Lima, John R. Carnes of Lima, Homer H. Hughes of Lima, John Keefer of Delaware, George F. Leatherman of Findlay, B. B. Melvin of Jefferson Town, Ky., and Carl Albrecht of Greenville.

Other guests were George McKay of Cleveland, Rev. Ashley Booth of Marion; and John Dowler of Marion.

Student reporter was Claire Needham of St. Mary High School.

New DeSoto Automobiles Announced

Another 1954 model automobile goes on display in Marion Thursday when the latest edition of the DeSoto line will be shown at the Larry Ramer Motor Sales and Service, 136 N. Prospect St.

The new DeSotos, announced today, are hailed as "automatic" cars featuring such things as PowerFlite transmission, full time power steering and power brakes.

A "road-hugging" look has been added to the cars this year. Exterior lines have been designed to give a forward-motion effect to the viewer.

Inside the autos, the decorating is styled to match the outside finish. In addtion, new upholstery fabrics and a new style dash board have been added.

The new automatic tansmission, PowerFlite, features only one fully-automatic shift from starting gear to direct drive.

By pressing the accelerator after reaching direct driving range, the automatic transmission shifts into low gear for an increase of power. In addition, when the speed of the car falls to 11 miles per hour, the gear shifts into low.

There are two series of the 1954 DeSoto, the Fire Dome V-8 and Powermaster Six. Power Flite is available on both models. Ten body styles are offered in the Fire Dome series are the 4-door sedan, club coupe, convertible couple, sportsman station wagon and eight-passenger sedan.

Every 1954 DeSoto includes as standard equipment electric windshield wipers, dual back-up light, directional signals, luggage compartment light, oil bath air cleaner, and Oilite fuel filter.

Another feature of the new automobiles is the no-sway ride control suspension which adds greater stability to the car, eliminates tire squeal and minimizes body "lean" on curves.

Ten different colords may be had They are black, ensign blue, azure blue, huron blue, colonial gray, slate gray, kerry green, forest green, pinehust green, burma tan, and aizona beige.

Harding, St. Mary Gridders Assume Underdog Role

Presidents Meet Fremont For Buckeye League Title

Both Harding and St. Mary will go into this week's gridiron encounters tabbed as underdogs. Harding plays host to undefeated Fremont Ross Friday night in the title game of the Buckeye League, while St. Mary entertains Mansfield Madison here Saturday.

It will mark the first game of the season in which the Prexies went in as underdogs. The Irish pulled a 7-0 upset over Lima St. Rose in their only similar role.

Both Seek Rebound

Both teams are working over time this week in efforts to build up steam for the games after disappointing performances last week. The Prexies were held to a 7-7 tie by a stubborn Ashland team while St. Mary saw its victory string snapped 13-7 by Carey's Blue Devils.

Harding will be at full strength for the title battle with Fremont. The Prexies received cheering news last night when lineman Larry Sager returned to action. It was originally feared he would be out with a broken toe but the injury was nothing more than a bad bruise. His return puts the Prexies back at full strength. Coach Pete Howison also reported Jim Whaley had returned to drill sessions but his status is still unknown. Whaley has been out for several weeks with a bad leg but performed well in practice, Pete said. The defensive star was originally hospitalized by an attack of food poisoning but recovered only to encounter the bad leg. Howison reports he may not see further action this year.

Harding came through the scrap at Ashland with nothing injured other than its pride. The heavily-favored Prexies were fought to a standstill by the Arrows in the deadlock. Howison reports his charges have shaken off the effects of their letdown and are showing a lot of vim in their drills. He said Monday and Tuesday drill periods were particularly 'good nights' as the gridders worked 'very hard.'

Title at Stake

Both Harding and Fremont go into the Buckeye League game with clean slates. The winner will take the league title. It may mark the final Buckeye Loop battle since the league is on the verge of folding following the withdrawal of Tiffin Columbian.

A few weeks ago it looked like Saturday's St. Mary - Mansfield Madison game might be a press agent's dream with both teams going into the contest undefeated.

Recent gridiron activities have shattered the hope for such a dream game, but Saturday's meeting will still have a lot of attraction for local fans. Both teams will be out to bounce back after having undefeated records spoiled last weekend.

After compiling a record of five wins and one tie in six starts, Madison dropped out of the win column with a 13-6 loss to Belleville.

Of the two, St. Mary has the longest way to come. Madison lost its first of the season to undefeated Belleville; the Irish lost theirs to a Carey squad that had previously won only one out of six games.

Best Offense

Madison seems to possess a more powerful offense than St Mary. The Mansfield aggregation has rolled up 215 points this year, reaching its offensive peak with 55-0 victories against Loudonville and Port Clinton. St. Mary has tallied 152 markers against the opposition, hitting the heights with a 55-6 decision over a highly-tauted Richwood.

Defensively, the Irish seemed to have a slight margin. They've allowed the opposition across their goal only three times, Madison has permitted four touchdowns.

The only common foe the two teams have faced is Carey, who bowed to Madison 27-6 and upset St. Mary 13-7 in the locals' worst showing to date.

In other games this year, Mansfield Madison tied Ashland 7-7 and beat Crestline 39-0 and Orrville 26-0, while St. Mary shutout Cardington 27-0, Lima St Rose 7-0, Mt. Gilead 36-0 and Columbus St. Mary 20-0.

NCAA's Prexy Hurls Charge At Grid Setup

NEW YORK — College football officials agreed today for the most part that there are certain abuses in the gridiron sport but none went so far as the NCAA president who would abolish the game "unless it is cleansed of hypocrisy, skulduggery and cheating."

Dr. A. B. Moore, president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and faculty chairman of athletics as Alabama, said the blame for current evils in the sport is shared by alumni, parents of athletes, coaches and college officials. He made the charge in a speech at Talladega, Ala.

Matty Bell, veteran Southern Methodist University athletic director, agreed that there are some evils in some places in college football.

"And we should have the courage to admit it, and make every effort to eliminate it," he said. "But I don't know of any violations now in the Southwest Conference. In my 23 years in the conference I've never known of less suspicion and criticism among the schools."

Moore, who also is dean of the Graduate School at Alabama, said he has seen "many of the benefits from intercollegiate athletics "and he was advocating "operating on the patient and not killing him."

"I expect there always will be some abuses in intercollegiate athletics because of its highly competitive nature," said Ike Armstrong, Minnesota's athletic director. "Colleges and universities should promote only the type of intercollegiate programs that administrators, faculties and governing boards feel to be honest, constructive and worthwhile."

"The alumni," Moore also said "would rather go on cheating than expose others who are cheating. You may read that the NCAA has caught 10 or 12 schools but not nearly enough is being done."

"We are 100 per cent behind any movement that will help athletics," commented Ed Krause, Notre Dame's athletic director.

From Dr. J. Hills Miller, president of the University of Florida and president of the Southeastern Conference, came this reaction:

"I suspect if you looked far enough you would find some of that in certain quarters. But I am a little surprised to hear Dr. Moore said that. He is a fine, responsible person and must have some basis for it."

Larry (Moon) Mullins, Kansas State athletic director, said Moore "is in a position to know what he is talking about" in cleaning up football but he differs with the NCAA head in this respect:

"I don't blame the alumni or parents of boys. The great majority of the alumni want the highest ideals to prevail. But too often, a disproportionate influence by a very few (usually self-appointed) is condoned."

Carroll Widdoes, former Ohio State coach and now coach and athletic director at Ohio University, admitted there are some abuses.

Policemen, Teachers To Mark Opening of Basketball Season

A quasi city championship game will open Marion's new basketball season in grandiose style tomorrow night.

The contest will pit a team representing the faculties of the public school system against a squad composed of members of the police and the local station of the state highway patrol.

The opening tipoff is scheduled for 7 p.m. at the YMCA. There will be no admission charge, and the public is invited.

Police Chief Tom Coon will lead the local defenders of law and order on to the court. Comprising the squad will be Sheriff Glenn Obenour, Deputy Sheriff Bob Lautenslager, State Patrolman Fred Scott and eight members of Coon's force.

Representing Marion's finest on the gendarme squad will be Roy Everly, Leo Harvey, John Long, Bob Edington, John Johnston, Rollin Beach, Lawrence Cocherl, and Charles Ferguson.

The array of stars on the faculty team is none the less impressive. The public school system will send into the fray an aggregation composed of John Luginbuhl, Kenny Somerlot, Elvin Beach, Floyd Hofacker, Darrell Gatchell, Donald Baggs, Bob Peach, Bill and Dick Cover, Paul O'Rourke and Ray Silver.

Don Farrar and Jim Hill will coach the local tutors. Joe Whisler, former Ohio State fullback, is on the roster but is not slated to see action. He's taking over the duties of head manager and water boy at his own request.

Whisler declined to comment on his team's chances, but he did say that he didn't imagine either team would be in the best of shape.

Chief Coon was a little more optimistic. He didn't have a crying towel in his hands when he said, "There's no doubt about it that we'll win."

Several members of the faculty team reported hearing rumors that their opponents would bring an inhalator along to revive themselves when they got tired. Coon declined to comment.

Coon hasn't listed his starting lineup but said that he would use a continual flow of players — a "multiple platoon system" he called it.

The school team plans to continue playing for the rest of the season in one of the local industrial leagues, According to Silver, who helped organize the faculty squad, the idea is "to have a little fun and lose a little weight."

Buckeyes Seek Tight Defense For MSC Team

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A defensively wobbly Ohio State team is trying to steady itself for the game which could put it back in the country's football spotlight—Saturday's clash here with Michigan State.

Ranked among the top 10 in The Associated Press pre-season poll, the Buckeyes are now rated 16th. But a win over fifth-ranking Michigan State probably would send Ohio's stock soaring.

National acclaim is one thing, but what Coach Woody Hayes has his eye on more than anything else is the Big Ten title and a Rose Bowl invitation.

Should the Bucks beat the Spartans from East Lansing, Mich., they might have a crack at the conference title. Both Ohio and Michigan State have lost one loop game. Illinois, which plays Michigan Saturday, is the only unbeaten Big Ten team. The Illini are rated fourth in the country.

The Buckeye's defensive maneuvers yesterday weren't good enough as far as the Ohio coaching staff is concerned. Yearlings using Spartan offensive tactics fared fairly well against the varsity.

Up in East Lansing, the Michigan State brain trust wasn't feeling too chipper, either. End coach Earle Edwards, who scouted Ohio, warned his team the Bucks "are loaded."

"We haven't faced a squad with such magnificient personnel in some time," he said. Head Coach Biggie Munn agreed.

"This is the biggest assignment we've had since Notre Dame last year," he said. "They have people who can do everything in football—and do it superbly."

Illinois Squad Reached Peak Strength Early

CHICAGO (AP)—What has made Illinois—overlooked by all the experts—football's miracle team of the season?

Illinois, the only unbeaten outfit in the Big Ten, can start glancing west to the Rose Bowl if it defeats Michigan Saturday in a gigantic homecoming classic at Champaign, Ill.

After Michigan, comes Wisconsin and Northwestern—both dangerous, but not regarded as strongly as Illinois' bitter rivals, the once-defeated Wolverines.

Before the season started, Illinois was relegated to the Big Ten's second division by football critics. After a 21-21 opening tie with Nebraska, it bowled over Stanford, Ohio State, Minnesota, Syracuse and Purdue. Now it is ranked No 4 nationally.

Illinois' success is a classic example of a team jelling all at once and staying that way. Everything is clicking.

Coach Ray Eliot knew he had several promising sophomores last spring. But you can't build a season on players untested in actual games.

His remnants of the two platoon system included such defense men as Herb Borman, Bob Lenzini, Don Ernst, Jan Smid and Cliff Waldbeser; and such offense players as Rocky Ryan and John Bauer.

He had to teach each to play both ways. Shifts were made, like moving Lenzini and Ernst from guard to tackle.

The transitions worked perfectly.

At the same time, a pair of sophomore halfbacks blossomed into two of the nation's greatest ball carriers, J. C. Caroline and Mickey Bates.

One Illinois observer summed it up this way:

"The psychological factor in having ball-carriers like Caroline and Bates is something that cannot be measured, but its effect on the team as a whole has been tremendous."

Feller Still Young At 35; Eyes Better Record Next Year

CLEVELAND (AP)—Bob Feller, who had a birthday yesterday, said: "I'm young at 35. At least, don't feel that old."

The dean of the Cleveland Indians' pitching staff said he thinks he can improve on his 10-7 record of last season during 1954.

Feller, who came to the Tribe as an Iowa farm boy 17 years ago last June, has been busier filling speaking engagements than ever before in his career. He says "it's good experience," which could mean "good experience" for someone figuring to become a baseball executive after hanging up his spikes.

Redskins Sign Infielder

CINCINNATI (AP)—The third member of the Dotterer family joins the Cincinnati Redlegs next spring. He is Tom, a 17-year-old infielder from Syracuse, N. Y. Tom, signed yesterday, joins his father, Dutch, a Redleg scout, and his brother, John of Tulsa. John, however, is serving a hitch in the Navy.

Change Aids Batter

Sacrifice Fly Re-Installed For Major League Action

By BEN PHLEGAR

NEW YORK (AP)—The sacrifice fly, which should help long ball hitters improve their batting averages, will be back in the baseball rule book in 1954.

Except for 1939 it's been missing for 22 seasons.

The revived rule says that any fly ball which permits a runner to score after the catch will not count as a time at bat against the hitter.

Some experts figure this can add as much as seven to 10 points to the batting averages of power hitters. The overall figures for the major leagues in 1939 when the rule was in effect didn't show any marked change. The National League average was up five points over the year before; the American League dropped two points.

The sacrifice fly rule was the major change announced yesterday at the end of a two-day meeting of the playing rules committee headed by James C. Gallagher of the Chicago Cubs. The committee includes three members from the National League, three from the American and three from the minors.

The committee also favored the hitters on two other points. It turned down a proposal to bring back the spitball and it approved the use of "harder" and "softer" bats.

The "harder" bats are laminated—strips of wood glued together. The "softer" bats, made of soft wood, are said to be useful for bunting.

The committee, meeting for the first time in more than two years, tightened a number of other rules and wrote a new one requiring players to bring their gloves to the dugout at the end of each inning.

Addition of a footnote to the rule on "tagging up" after a fly. The note says the base runner must start from a standing position in contact with the bag. Some players including Bob Thompson and Al Dark of the New York Giants had been taking a running start from short left field.

Insertion of the word "fair" in rule 7.08F, which says a runner is out if hit by a batted ball.

Removal of the mandatory 90-day suspension against a manager who orders his team off the field and forfeits a game. Dixie Walker did this several years ago while managing Atlanta. The punishment now will be up to the league president.

Revision of the rules on a live ball touched by "equipment detached from its proper position." The old rules automatically gave a batsman three bases on a batted ball and a runner two bases on a live thrown ball. The change limits the rules so that they will apply only if the action is intentional and the ball is in fair territory.

Ruled it unsportsmanlike conduct for a fielder to take a position in the line of vision of the batter and purposely attempt to distract the batter. This was an old trick of Eddie Stanky, now manager of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Two-Way Play Helps Arkansas Backfield Ace

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — It took the return of non-specialied double-duty football to bring out the full brilliance of Lamar McHan of Arkansas, The Associated Press back of the week.

The 190-pound single wing tailback, a senior, is playing defensive ball for the first time and doing a tremendous job of it. At the same time, he is having his greatest season on offense.

A true "workhorse", he leads the Southwest Conference in total offense by a wide margin while playing with a team that has won only two of six games.

McHan was named back of the week for his titanic one-man show last Saturday night, when Arkansas upset Texas A&M, 41-14.

He ran for 73 yards, completed 11 of 13 passes for 184 yards, scored two touchdowns, passed for two more, set up a fifth, kicked four extra points in four tries, intercepted a pass, made half a dozen tackles from his safety position, punted, kicked off and called signals.

Harding's Runners Win Season Finale

Cross Country Team Nips District Champs, Eye State

The Harding High School cross country team closed its season yesterday ina blaze of glory, whipping a strong Mansfield squad 27-28. The victors gave the local squad a record of seven wins and three losses.

The final win came over the team which only last Saturday had raced its way to the Northwest District title at Toledo. The win avenged an earlier season loss also.

Fred James, Mansfield ace, was the individual winner after touring the course in 10:18. He was never able to shake Harding's Gene Monroe, however. The Harding speedster set a new Harding record for the Country Club course in 10.21.5. The former mark, also held by Monroe was 10.29.

Hugh Kinnamon, Harding co-captain, showed signs of having shook loose from a recent cold and upset stomach. He same in with a fourth place after running the two miles in 10:47. Ben Dozier, Dick Bolinger and Allen Green finished sixth, seventh and eighth to give the Prexies the closest meet ever held at the country Club.

Coach Ken Somerlot added he was particularly pleased with the performances turned in by Dallas Foos, Dick Mull, Bud Metz, Delbert Huntsman and Tim Thomas. These boys, he said have lowered their times to where they can now help the top runners. They will round out the top 10 men entered in the state meet Saturday.

The Prexies' next action will be in the state meet Saturday at the Ohio State University golf course at Columbus. Harding will go into the meet as defending state champions. Only the top 10 men from the squad will make the trip with seven eligible to take part in the run. The meet is scheduled to get under way at 10 a.m.

The Harding runners will wind up their season Nov. 11 at Columbus when they take part in the Ohio AAU meet. They also will be defending state titlists there.

Results: James (M) 10 18; Monroe (H) 10 21.5; Keinath (M) 10.47; Kinnamon (H) 10.47; Smith (M) 11:00; Dozer (H) 11, 02.5; Bolinger (H) 11:07; Green (H) 11.09; Crall (M) 11 16, Leger (M) 11:21; York (M) 11 22 5; Foos (H) 11.25; J. West Virginia Tackle Selected Top Lineman

NEW YORK (AP)—Bruce Bosley, sophomore tackle at West Virginia, was selected today as The Asociated Press lineman of the week.

Bosley's sterling play against Penn State Saturday kept the Mountaineers undefeated and in line for a bowl bid.

West Virginia won, 20-19, and Bosley played a vital part in the play that accounted for what proved to be the winning touchdown. He and Tommy Allman broke through to block a State punt on the State 23 Bosley fell on the ball in the end zone for the score.

SHORT SPORTS

By John Short

Morral High School's baseball team clinched the Marion County title last week by belting Green Camp 10-1 in a playoff game. The win marked a hard struggle for the Morral diamond crew.

SHORT

Coach Vern Hensel in his second year at the school, took over last year and when baseball season rolled around found that the school wasn't too well-prepared for the campaign.

A couple of the players summed up the situation by saying Vern found 'a busted bat and three beat up baseballs.'

He went to work, rounded up more equipment and started drilling his hopefuls. This year the work payed off.

The Morral team notched an impressive record in winning the title. It finished with an overall mark of 11 wins, three losses and a tie. However, the three losses came during the squad's first five outings. It finished the season with a streak of 10 straight wins. Morral outscored its opposition 173 runs to 72.

Hensel is all smiles over his team. Six freshmen dotted the lineup and his junior high squad rolled up a total of 92 runs to nine for the opposition.

AIMING HIGH. Frank Grace, eighth grader at St Mary, who probably will be filling an end post for Ray Robbins next season, has a new mark to shoot at in his early grid career. Frank is out to better the grid achievement of his older brother. Don, who cut a swatch across Canton gridirons for four years.

The boys are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Don Grace, newcomers to Marion. Mr. Grace is display advertising manager for The Star. Don Jr., a graduate of Canton Central Catholic, was recently named captain of the frosh team at John Carroll University.

The younger Grace got off to a flying start in duplicating his older brother's feats last year. He became the first seventh grader to win all-city honors in the Canton Junior High School League.

Frank also was a top-flight basketball player in the Canton league and is expected to carry on here. He also performs on the baseball diamond.

GIANTS' BOASTS STARS

NEW YORK (AP)—With the signing of Everett (Sonny) Grandelius, Michigan State star recently returned from Korean war service, the New York Giants of the NFL boast two ex-collegians who amassed more than 1,000 yards rushing. Eddie Price, veteran fullback is the other. Grandelius, in his senior season at Michigan State in 1950, gained 1,023 yards. Price, who did his college rambling for Tulane, netted 1,178 yards in 1948 and 1,137 in 1949. Sonny will report to the Giants training camp in St. Peter, Minn., on Aug. 1.

Irish Complete One-Way Shift, Seek 6th Win

By JERRY LISKA

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—An unbeaten Notre Dame bowls into Pennsylvania Saturday seeking its sixth straight victory for a recuperating coach who earlier decried football's return to one-platoon play.

Coach Frank Leahy, stricken midway in Notre Dame's prized 27-14 victory over Georgia Tech 10 days ago, saw no good in the abolishment of free substitution.

Yet, his Fighting Irish, No. 1 in The Associated Press national poll, must be credited with a marvelous survival of the late, widely-mourned two-platoon system.

Leahy's complaint was that more boys played football better under the old setup. That with only 20 days of spring football allowed by the NCAA, two-way football couldn't be taught to former offensive or defensive specialists.

Leahy, whose stomach spasm during the Tech game was described as near fatal, has just about the same material as last year. That 1952 Irish club was a scrappy, but far from devastating team which lost two games, tied one and won seven.

This season, the Irish have operated with Notre Dame efficiency of old on both offense and defense to defeat Oklahoma, Purdue, Pittsburgh, Georgia Tech and Navy.

After Penn, remaining Irish foes include North Carolina, Iowa, Southern California and Southern Methodist. An upset or two may be lurking in that array, but not if the Irish juggernaut continues to move along without a key injury.

How does this Irish team happen to tick so well two ways?

It is hardly a rebuilt team with only one sophomore, Ray Lemek, swift 207-pound guard from Sioux City, Iowa in the starting lineup.

It isn't a matter of crushing manpower at least not in the old Rockne sense of three units of comparable strength.

Until this point, Notre Dame success mainly has hinged solely on one unit of superior speed, spirit and stamina. But last Saturday, against Navy, Irish reserves saw considerable action. The Notre Dame "shock troop" technique of yore could be in the making.

Possibly as well as a meticulous coaching job by Leahy and his staff Notre Dame's varsity represents a rebirth of the all-around football player on the team level.

Johnny Lattner last year was a throwback to the pre-platoon days of a 60-minute player, who could run with the ball and knew what to do when the other fellow ran with the ball.

His play again has been superb this season, but quarterback Ralph Guglielmi, halfback Joe Heap and fullback Neil Worden all 1952 offensive specialists, have proved great defensive surprises.

If any one player has jelled Notre Dame's transition from platoon to both-ways football it is Guglielmi, 180-pound junior from Columbus, Ohio.

A master at detecting rival weaknesses through the probing thrusts of Worden, Lattner and Heap, Guglielmi definitely has "arrived" as a typical Notre Dame quarterback.

It was about this position Leahy was known to have fretted his greatest fears last spring. Not only has Guglielmi become a poised, slick ball-handling strategist, but his defensive play has been brilliant both as a tackler and pass stealer.

The Irish line more or less bears out the football adage that a good offense is the best defense. With the exception of end Paul Matz, who had slight defensive experience, the forward wall is composed of 1952 offensive stalwarts.

PAFKO THOUGHT OF WIFE

PITTSBURGH — Andy Pafko Milwaukee Braves' outfielder, is a man who thinks of his wife at all times. In a game with the Pittsburgh Pirates, Pafko suffered a badly bruised knee in a collision with teammate Jack Dittmer. As soon as Pafko was helped into the clubhouse he called the press box to notify the radio broadcasters that his injury was slight. He knew the game was being beamed back to Milwaukee. "Ask them to put it on the air right away that my right knee is just bruised," Andy said. "My wife is listening and I don't want her to worry."

The Clinic is open to all basketball representatives, coaches, and players in Marion County.

Davey Meets Al Andrews in Video Feature

DETROIT (AP) — Newcomer Al Andrews gets his crack at the gold and glory strung across the national television cable tonight when he meets Chuck Davey in Olympia Stadium.

The 10-rounder, starting at 10 p.m., EST, will be televised around the country. It also will be broadcast.

Andrews, former Fifth Army champion from Superior, Wis., earned this shot at the big time, and big money, by outpointing Davey in a one-sided 10-rounder in Saginaw, Mich., Sept 14. He floored Davey for an eight-count in winning unanimously.

Fast on his feet but light with his punches, the 23-year-old Andrews started his pro career in July, 1952. He picked up $50 for his first effort. Tonight his purse may hit $9,000.

Graham's Grip On NFL Aerial Lead in Danger

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bobby Thomason, who saved the Philadelphia Eagles from the depths of despair after being strangely ignored for three games, is threatening the passing leadership of Cleveland's Otto Graham in the National Football League.

The mid-season NFL statistics disclosed today Thomason had moved into second place in the individual passing competition with 60 completions in 99 attempts for 822 yards, eight touchdowns and an 8.30 yard average per pass.

A bench warmer until the late stages of the fourth game of the season, has seen only four of his passes intercepted and his percentage of completions is a high 60.6.

Graham still holds the lead with 84 completed of 132 passes, for 1,385 yards and five TDs. His percentage is 63.6 and his averaged yardage gain per pass is 10.49. Additionally, the incomparable Otto has registered six touchdowns as a ball carrier. Norman Van Brocklin is the third top passer in the league with 155 thrown, 82 completed, 1,423 yards gained, 10 TDs, a 52.9 percentage and an 8.19 yard average.

The point scoring leadership is held jointly by Cleveland's Lou Groza and Green Bay's Fred Cone, each with 47. Ban Agajanian of Los Angeles follows with 45. Pat Brady, Pittsburgh's booming punter, still tops the booters with a 49.3 average.

The Reluctant Hucksters

In last week's "Variety," Abel Green, the editor, made some rather pointed and, I'm afraid, sound observations about the huckstering which all the major TV and screen stars are doing these days.

J. CROSBY

"Humphrey Bogart sure looked, acted and sounded like he was selling his SAG, Equity, AFTRA, Masquers and Romanoff's cards down the river for whatever was his fee to foil for Jack Benny on the latter's Sunday night CBS-TVer for Lucky Strike doing that LSMFT commercial with all the ease and aplomb of a politician caught on Joey Fay's calling card list," declared Mr. Green whose editorials fairly splutter with indignation.

"THIS BRINGS to a head a sequence of personal pitchmen routines by the greats of show business which makes the yesteryear medicine men peddling their snake oil look like diplomats. Virtually every star has succumbed to the blandishments of personal agents and-or agencies to "personally sell the merchandise."

Ever since Gabriel Heatter went from 'there's good news tonight' to not-so-good-news about the 10 temporary Nazi conquests to huckstering Vitalis — and doing the latter so successfully — the sponsoring underwriters of radio and TV shows have encouraged the personal pitch by the show's stars. Today there isn't a personality whose real-life pseudo-endorsement isn't integrated into the commercial."

Knowing Bogart, I suspect he did the Benny commercial for laughs as much as for money and most Benny commercials — I didn't see that one—have the saving grace of being pretty funny. But the rest of the complaint is valid enough. The greatest names in show business have been conned into selling soap and by so doing have dimmed their luster quite a lot.

THIS IS NOT entirely the fault of the actor either. There is very little they can do about it. Some time ago when I voiced a complaint similar to Mr. Green's, I got a letter from an actor on the subject. To protect him from an ad agency wrath, I'll have to keep his name quiet but you ought to know that he's a very prominent stage and screen star.

"I read your piece a few days ago," he wrote, "about actors doing commercials on television, and while I found myself in agreement with much that you said, I do think that someone should enter a word in defense of our profession.

"I happen to know something about this situation — which I deplore just as much as you — because I have recently been involved in negotiations for the making of a television series on film. Before a pilot film was made and before the producing company would even talk a deal, my assurance was demanded that I would do commercials.

"IT HAS BEEN explained to me by the William Morris agency, one of the most important in the business, that when they go in to make a sale to a possible sponsor the first question that sponsor asks — before he asks about the material, the name of the star, or, even the length of the program—is: 'Will the star do the commercials?' A negative answer or even a qualified one will stop all further discussion.

"Personally I feel so strongly that it is wrong for serious actors of any reputation to try to become barkers, and indeed that their audience does not like them to do so, that I wrote to the council of the Screen Actors Guild to ask if some protective clause could not be inserted in the standard contract. The Guild replied that as television was strictly a commercial medium they did not think they could intervene.

-:-

"SO WHAT IS THE actor to do? Movies, like the stage, offer very few opportunities for employement today. If he wants to eat, the actor must be willing to sell, and apparently that's that!"

I hope that is not that. An actor's job is to act. Selling is somebody else's — notably the ad agencies — who ought to do their own work.

Celebrezze Is Easy Victor in Cleveland Vote

CLEVELAND (AP)—The new mayor of Cleveland—and by a whopping majority—is state Sen Anthony J. Celebrezze, an independent Democrat who beat Republican William J. McDermott without the help of the local Democratic Party organization.

The scrappy, 43-year-old Italian-born Celebrezze, 40th mayor of Ohio's largest city and the first immigrant to be elected its leader, had 140,917 votes to 94,261 for McDermott in complete unofficial returns from all of the city's 1,089 voting places.

Celebrezze maintained an approximate 3-2 lead throughout, and when only about half the returns were in McDermott, who quit the juvenile court bench to run, conceded defeat.

Celebrezze takes office Monday morning at a salary of $25,000 a year. That's $10,000 more than was paid Thomas A. Burke, Democrat who did not run for the job he has held for nine years—longest of any Cleveland mayor. The salary change was made possible at the primary election here five weeks ago.

As successor to Burke, who was named U. S. Senator last month to replace the late Robert A. Taft, Celebrezze will extend the Democratic mayoral regime at city hall to at least 14 years with his coming two-year term. Prior to Burke, Gov. Frank J. Lausche held the office, taking over from Harold H. Burton, a Republican and now U. S. Supreme Court justice.

Both Burke and Lausche backed Celebrezze's campaign, but Cuyahoga County Democratic chairman Ray T. Miller's organization, whose candidate lost in the non-partisan primary, lent no help.

Officer Says Molesting Charges Hurt Innocent

LOS ANGELES (UP)—The chief investigator of the Los Angeles County public defender's office warns that adults allowing themselves to be alone with someone else's child may risk molestation charges.

Lt. Edward N. Bliss, Jr., told the Civitan Club, a service organization, that his office has uncovered many cases of innocent and respectable men who were dragged through the disgrace of molestation charges becase of misunderstanding or children's wild imagination.

"It can happen to any of us," Bliss said. "Figure out how you would get out of it. I don't know myself."

He said persons who confess sex crimes might not be guilty, as a very high number of publicity-seekers and crackpots continually plead guilty to such charges.

Bliss added that many women who claim to be victims of sex crimes merely make up wild tales to tell their husbands why they spent the night away from home.

It's Navaho, not Navajo. The Navaho Tribal Council recently asked that the "h" be used instead of the historic "j," the latter a hold-over from the days of the Spanish conquistadores. In the Spanish tongue, "j" has an "h" sound.
